Johnson Proposes Standby Controls On Polio Vaccine

Would Give Ike Broad Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas Saturday threw his weight behind a proposal by Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) to give President Eisenhower standby authority to control the manufacture and distribution of Salk polio vaccine.

Hill, who heads the Senate Labor Committee, predicted that Congress will brush aside objections from the Eisenhower administration and enact discretionary controls legislation.

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, said he doesn't want to choose between several bills which the Labor Committee will consider Monday. But he said he personally favors giving Eisenhower "broad discretionary authority and powers in that field."

"I think it would be desirable to vest in the president power to exert control over this program and he could decide whether he needs to do it," Johnson said.

Reminded that Secretary Hobby of the Health, Education and Welfare Department has opposed enactment of controls legislation now, Johnson said that doesn't alter his opinion that the President should have "any authority he may need."

"I am not passing on the question of whether the President now has the inherent power to act," he said. "But we should have such controls as are needed to assure equitable distribution of the vaccine."

The nationwide inoculation program remained virtually stalled meanwhile pending the outcome of a new scientific conference Monday on a possible tightening of safety standards for the vaccine. There was no official comment from government sources, but some of the vaccine manufacturers said their technical specialists had been called in to the meeting. They reportedly were told that new safety requirements may be in the making.

Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele is due to make a detailed report to the White House soon on the technical and scientific problems involved in manufacturing and testing the vaccine. Press secretary James Hagerty said Saturday he did not know exactly how soon the report would be ready.

Predicts Passage Of Revised Army Reserve Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, House Republican leader, predicted Saturday the House will pass a revised version of its shelved military reserve bill "because we have to have it."

Other supporters were less optimistic, and some said privately the bill is dead for this session although the Eisenhower administration urgently desires it.

Martin said the only alternatives to a new program for expanding the reserves are "doubling the draft or maintaining large standing forces."

"Nobody wants to take either of those steps," he added. "So I am confident we will pass a reserve bill after a while."

Martin voiced the private fears of many legislators that a House-Senate tangle over reserves may confront them with the political dilemma of voting more military appropriations or tacitly approving stepped-up draft calls.

Senate leaders so far have indicated they have no desire of taking up the measure until the House acts.

The shelved bill was designed to add two million men to the organized reserves in four years. These would come largely from an expected new pool of teen-agers willing to volunteer for six months' training and 7½ active reserve duty. In addition the bill authorized the Pentagon to recall, for 45 days of active duty, reservists failing to keep up required weekly drill and summer camp training.

Formosa Determined To Take Mainland; Yui

TAIPEI, Formosa (P)—The Nationalist Premier said Saturday all Formosa remains determined to recover the mainland, will not accept a cease-fire, will not give up offshore islands and will not be bound by any Big Four agreements "affecting our interests."

Premier O. K. Yui spoke to a press conference of 40 foreign and Chinese newsmen.

Over on the mainland, V. K. Krishna Menon, foreign policy adviser to India's Prime Minister Nehru, took a plane for New Delhi after winding up talks with Red China's top officials believed to have dealt with the Formosan situation. Peiping radio quoted him as saying "we can look forward with hope."

There were unconfirmed reports that Menon had proposed as the basis of U.S.-Red China negotiations that Chiang Kai-shek waive all claims on the mainland and give up the offshore islands of Quemoy and the Matsu.

The United States has expressed willingness to talk with Red China about a cease-fire in Formosa Strait—a proposal which Red Premier Chou En-lai also says is unacceptable.

Late Saturday, Red guns fired 10 shells at the Nationalist garrison on Quemoy but caused no casualties, the Nationalist Defense Ministry announced tonight.

At Saturday's news conference, Yui was asked if he expected an easing of international tension or a sellout of Nationalist China to result from the projected Big Four conference of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France.

He said he doubted if such a conference would contribute to peace but that it would have no right to take up matters affecting Nationalist China's interests without the Nationalists present.

"DUSTBOWL" FLOODS — Aerial view of Waurika, Oklahoma, shows flooding caused by torrential rains throughout the dust areas of Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas. ## RAINS SOAK DUSTBOWL

Farmers Plant Crops With Renewed Hopes

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK
Associated Press

Soaking rains this week enabled Southwest farmers and ranchers to win a battle with the drought in the age-old war in which there are no lasting victories.

The downpours soaked wind-eroded lands and brought new hope to the heart of the old dust bowl area of western Kansas, eastern Colorado, western Oklahoma, northeast New Mexico, and Panhandle-plains of Texas, where drought and wind had threatened this spring to recarve the desolation of the mid 1930s.

The rains revived stunted wheat and soaked deep into the ground to assure moisture for later crops. Parched rangelands are greening up again and stock ponds are brimming in many sectors.

Britain's Election Campaign Slowest In Many Years

LONDON (P)—Britain's general election campaign crawled into its last weekend tonight with candidates and voters agreeing it's the quietest and slowest in many years.

Against a background of nationwide lull and in the face of public opinion polls and other signs hinting at a Tory victory in the election next Thursday, Conservative party spokesmen warned against overconfidence.

"My greatest anxiety now," croaked Viscount Woolton, chairman of the Conservative party, "is lest our supporters should conclude that the election is in the bag."

Hardly able to speak because of laryngitis, His Lordship added in a hoarse whisper: "I don't believe it for a moment."

Said Lord Manors, parliamentary undersecretary in Prime Minister Anthony Eden's government: "We are becoming ominously smug and starting to talk about a landslide. If we do not drop this with a vengeance, there will indeed be a landslide—the wrong way."

Said Labor's Daily Herald: "This is the decisive weekend. There are five days to decide Britain's fate for five years. Bring out every Labor voter on Thursday to the poll."

Harry Pollitt, secretary of the Communist party, sounded what was perhaps the shrillest warning to the voters, saying: "This is the most decisive election of our lifetime."

Damage to the craft prevented its occupant from getting out, Keller said. He added that a preliminary examination by the county coroner indicated Keeber suffered head injuries, but may have died by drowning.

RED HEALTH RESORT SEEKS BUSINESS
VIENNA, Austria (P)—Red Czechoslovakia is trying to drum up Western business for the health resort of Karlovy Vary Karlsbad with an offer of board and lodging for $12.50 a day, paid in advance. For those who want to put cash on the barrelhead, Czech legations offer unlimited visas.

Charge Dulles Called Russians 'Barbarians'

MOSCOW (P)—A prominent Russian writer accused Secretary of State Dulles in Pravda Saturday of calling the Soviet people "cultural barbarians." He said Dulles was one, instead.

In an angry article that failed to jibe with high-level peace talk, David Zaslavsky said Dulles and many Americans are barbarians who shouldn't go around pointing fingers at Soviet citizens.

Zaslavsky charged that Dulles used the term in a statement at the recent Paris meeting of the NATO Executive Council.

(There is no published record Dulles ever used such a term in that manner. NATO sources in Paris said they never heard any such declaration. In Washington, a State Department press officer said, "We don't comment on Pravda editorials.")

Zaslavsky, who is on the editorial board of Krokodil, the Soviet satirical weekly, writes frequently on international subjects for Pravda.

His article said in part: "Dulles undoubtedly considers himself a cultured man. But this type of cultured people used to exist in czarist Russia and they were as dumb as culture could finally make them." The facts show increasing illiteracy and mounting juvenile crime in the United States and a growing number of slums in American cities.

"These proves the decay of American culture and emphasize that people who engage in 'barbarity' talk in the United States should be wiser to keep silent on this subject . . ."

WASHINGTON (P)—The nation, emerging from a barrage of speeches on the mounting menace of Soviet power, took a look Saturday at its own military strength.

Citizens by the millions swarmed to parade routes and milled around guns, tanks, ships, planes and weird missiles at the "open houses" of the military establishment on Armed Forces Day.

The purpose of all this is Friday's somber warnings, Saturday's display of American strength—to keep interest alert to national defense at a time when there is no hot war.

Many of the speakers Friday emphasized the swiftly expanding strength of Russia in the air. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, was one. He talked of the "great" bomber force and nuclear weapons possessed by the Soviets, of new faster-than-sound fighters in numbers.

But Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme commander in Europe, said he thought the Red air force is "quite a long way behind ours" in the long-range bomber category. Such divergent views carried on into Saturday.

Warns U. S. To Keep Up Its Defenses

Sen. George Urges Not To 'Rest On Oars'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said Saturday the United States must not give up European airbases or reduce its military strength there despite any "bold move" by Russia to erect a neutral zone between East and West.

George, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen there are "no present circumstances under which we can afford to give up our air bases or decrease our forces in Europe."

Replying to critics who have said Russia's prime objective at any top-level, Big Four conference would be to dissipate American military strength in Europe, George said:

"I don't think we can give up anything at this time or rest on our oars in any way. We can't let our guard down now. No proposal Russia makes should affect our military efforts until we have had time to see some real change in the world situation."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, has contended that the Soviets are aiming at bringing about withdrawal of American troops from the Continent. He has predicted attempts to "neutralize" a belt of countries across Europe from Yugoslavia to Scandinavia.

George, first in this country to call for a "summit" conference between President Eisenhower and the heads of Britain, France and Russia, said he has no doubt the Russians will come forward with "a very bold program" at such a meeting.

"They will probably have a new disarmament proposal," he said. "They are likely to suggest the creation of a neutral zone between East and West."

"They may even propose that the United States, Britain and France on one side guarantee the neutrality of a dividing zone while they guarantee it on the other. We should be prepared for some unusually bold proposals from them."

George said he doesn't believe these proposals need be "disturbing" to the West. But he conceded that any move toward neutralization might appeal to some factions in Western Germany and would be likely to affect East German sentiment greatly.

In this connection, he applauded efforts of the Bonn government to rush rearmament bills through the West German Parliament before the contemplated summit conference this summer.

George said it was his understanding the Adenauer government wants to get rearmament moving quickly. He said he was informed that about $1,600,000,000 in American-made arms to the West Germans as they need them.

President Eisenhower said last Wednesday that the idea of a neutral bloc appeared to have developed since the Austrian peace treaty was signed. He noted, however, that under the treaty Austria could remain, saying that kind of neutrality was far different from a military vacuum.

TO EXPLORE ARCTIC ISLES
OTTAWA (P)—Canada is sending a 30-man geological party to survey the Queen Elizabeth Islands in the Canadian arctic this summer for oil and mineral resources. The party sets out June 10. Among the islands to be studied, around and from the air, are Somerset, Devon, Bathurst and Melville.

WASHINGTON (P)—The nation, emerging from a barrage of speeches on the mounting menace of Soviet power, took a look Saturday at its own military strength.

Citizens by the millions swarmed to parade routes and milled around guns, tanks, ships, planes and weird missiles at the "open houses" of the military establishment on Armed Forces Day.

Arrest, Charge 2 Sisters With Theft Of State Supplies

DIXON, Ill. (P)—Two sisters under suspension as employees of the Illinois State School at Dixon were arrested today on charges of theft from the institution's supplies.

Held in Gallatin County jail at Shawneetown were Mrs. Effie L. Vinyard, 68, condemning officer for supplies, and her sister, Flora M. Graves, 57, a linen stockroom employee at Dixon.

Dr. Otto Bettag, director of the Illinois Department of Public Welfare, said investigators from his office estimated the value of supplies recovered from the home of one of the women at several thousand dollars.

Complaints against the two were signed by Robert Wallace, superintendent of the state school. Lee County Sheriff John Stouffer left Dixon for Shawneetown today to serve warrants on the sisters.

The complaints by Wallace charged theft of $50 worth of merchandise from the institution during May. Wallace declined to estimate how much of the institution's stock might have been stolen.

At Shawneetown, Gallatin County Deputy Sheriff James Fox said he had removed "a truckload of shoes, clothes, soap and other supplies" from Mrs. Vinyard's home at Omaha, two miles north of Shawneetown.

Wallace said that Mrs. Vinyard, an employee of the state school for six years, has been under suspension since Jan. 30. He said that Miss Graves, who has worked at the school for 32 years, was suspended a week ago.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH RATE IN STATE DROPS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (P)—The accidental death rate in Illinois dipped last year to the lowest level in a decade, the State Health Department said Saturday.

The rate dropped to 54 per 1,000 population. In 1953 it was 59.4.

Also lower in 1954 than in 1953, based on estimated figures for last year, were death rates for heart disease, pneumonia and influenza, diabetes, nephritis, tuberculosis and cirrhosis of the liver.

Mortality rates of cancer, general arteriosclerosis and diseases peculiar to early infancy rose slightly.

In all, an estimated 92,500 deaths occurred last year compared with 96,607 in 1953.

cars ARE MY Line

by: E. W. Brown

Maybe you remember that several years before the war one of the auto manufacturers made a special car for the Duke of Windsor. It had a small bar in the back, and a library and little reading lamps with shades on them. All in all, it was some car.

But it wasn't a patch on some of the fancy boats I've run across. Just last year a French body builder restyled an American car for King Ibn Saud of Arabia and it was delivered shortly before he died.

The King's coat-of-arms, two simulators and a palm tree, were fashioned from silver, plated with gold, and made quite a hood ornament.

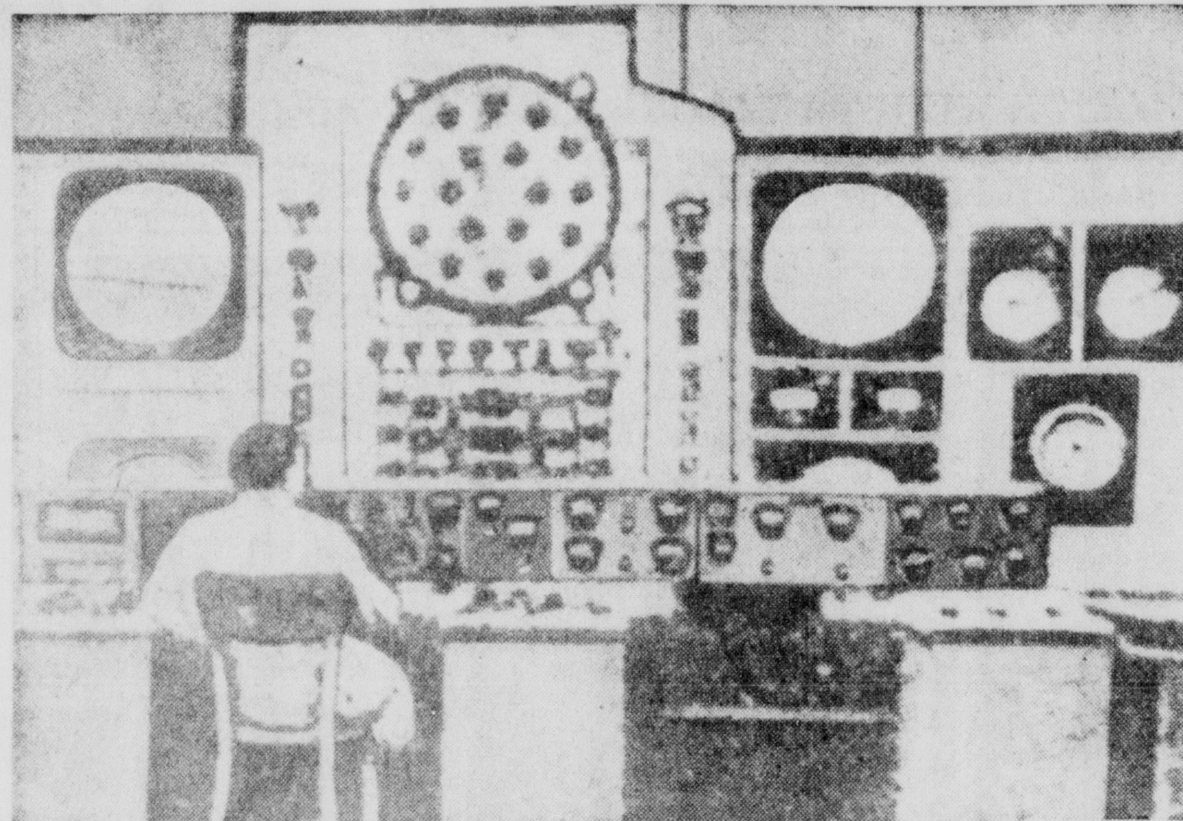

The King's bodyguards rode outside on disappearing running boards and held on to chrome grips fastened on to the 10-inch thick doors. There was green leather upholstery, sheep's-wool rugs, an altimeter, barometer and cocktail bar with goldplated silver glasses that cost $50.00 each. The car set the King of the oil-rich desert country back a cool $22,000.

Hitler demanded even more with a $35,000 Mercedes Benz which had a 513 gallon gas tank, five speeds and a 230 horsepower engine. The car is owned now by an American.

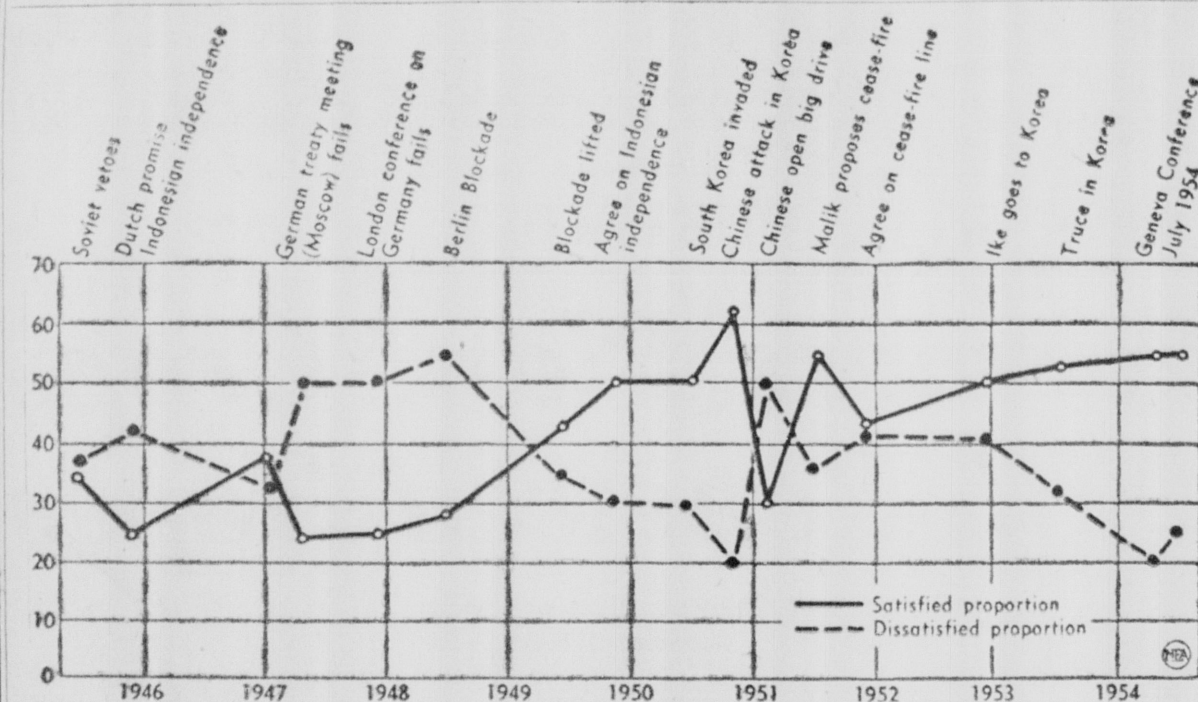

At our place, you'll have to be satisfied with chrome trim, as much or as little as you want, and the matter of a bar in the back seat is a matter for you and the police to settle. But the most expensive car we have is little more than 10 percent of the price of these fabulous cars for the Kings. And we think there's nothing like owning your own car to give you that independence and freedom that makes a man "feel like a King."

British Election Outcome Revolves Around High Living Costs, Strikes

(Editor's Note: England's big election is only four days off, but it's perishing hard for the typical Briton to make up his mind on voting. He's properly burned over two issues—strikes and high prices. Trouble is, he blames labor for one and the Conservatives for the other.)

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON—Arthur Bloxham—as British as bad weather—is hoping mad over the state of affairs in 1955, but he can't make up his mind how to vote about it.

"Can one chap change things with a vote?" he asked and then answered himself with, "I just don't know."

His chance comes next Thursday in the fourth British general election since World War II.

"I'm burned up about two things in particular—high prices and these bloody strikes."

He blames Prime Minister Eden's conservative government for the high cost of living and says union labor is tormenting the average Englishman's life with strike after strike.

In the last 12 months Britain has gone through a stevedores' strike, a London bus strike, a national newspaper strike, a coal miners' strike and has barely warded off two railway strikes.

Many of those union men were, with their strikes, protesting against high prices too, by demanding higher wages in a world of rising costs.

Arthur Bloxham doesn't see it that way though. He's no union man.

He is 34 and the assistant manager of a big neighborhood dairy. He has a wife and two sons.

There are thousands of Britons much like him among the 51 millions who live on this tightly packed island.

His salary is $140 a month, around the average income of English working men.

Bloxham lives in a small four-room apartment for which he pays $34 a month. His monthly gas bill comes to $2.50. As to food, he dug through some old grocery bills that dated back to early 1951, the year the Conservatives threw out the socialists.

"Tea," he said, "just under five shillings a pound ($1.12) or more. I'll admit it's supposed to be coming down, but I don't give the Tories credit for that."

His bills showed he's paying about 76 cents a pound for beef. It cost him about 48 cents under Labor when food was rationed.

Bread was less than five cents a loaf then and now it's nine.

"Five years ago I was making 10 pounds a week and I went to see football on my days off," said Bloxham. "Now I make 12 pounds, but I have to take odd jobs in my spare time."

"Aw, cut it, Arthur," said his wife. "You used to walk to work. Now you ride a motorbike and we're going to buy a sidecar, and there's no more rationing."

Laborites admit there's been a rise in living standards under the Conservatives, but they say the rise has been much sharper for monied people than for ordinary folks. Conservatives say wages have risen as much as prices.

Armed with stacks of statistics, both parties point accusing fingers when it comes to one of the nation's most controversial election subjects—the cost of living.

Labor and Conservatives have published manifestos and campaign guides that go deeply and tortuously into the dizzy decimals and staggered indices on the cost of living.

"The Tories fought the last election on a pledge to bring prices down," says the Labor manifesto, "and Mr. Butler (chancellor of the Exchequer) promised not to cut food subsidies. In less than a year he broke his promise and thus deliberately drove up the cost of living."

The Conservative answer in their 638-page campaign guide is: "Six years of socialist government (1945-51) left this country in dire economic straits and it was obvious to fair-minded persons that the sharp upward spiral of inflation could not be reversed quickly."

"The runaway rise in the cost of living has been halted and prices are much steadier. It is true that some prices have gone up, but those represent once-for-all movements for special reasons."

And so it goes with a man like Arthur Bloxham bogged in a quagmire of charges and countercharges that he reads in his papers, hears over his radio and sees on his television.

In his pub—the average man's club—the arguments are more down to earth, but they center around the cost of living, free enterprise, the cost of beer, tobacco, the inconvenience of strikes, and the dread specter of a return to rationing.

When the Conservatives took office in 1951 the nation's activities were under many controls. They liberated the economy and said they were offering incentives.

Business boomed. The country looked up. Rationing was abolished. More consumer goods filled the shops. People bought refrigerators, radios, television sets, vacuum cleaners, automobiles and a lot of other items.

Then bang. Late this winter danger signs loomed in the economic picture. The terms of trade—which had been in Britain's favor—turned against her. She was paying more for imports than she was receiving for exports.

The nation's gold dollar reserves sank, with an 82-million-dollar loss in February. Chancellor Butler stepped in, raised the rate banks must pay as interest. He slapped the brake on installment buying. That was on Feb. 24.

By May 3 the vital gold and dollar reserves had bounced back, rising by 19 million dollars.

The Conservatives heaved a partywide sigh of relief. Laborites had charged them with calling the election because Britain's economic situation was worsening so rapidly that the Tories were doomed to defeat if they postponed it.

Butler's restrictive actions in February confirm it would be a misrepresentation to call the Conservatives simply the party of economic freedom and Labor the party of restrictions and control.

The difference is not between black and white.

However, this releasing and tightening of economic controls, the juggling of interest rates, the clippers of high finance, they may mean magic in the old stone banks of London's financial city, but they mean precious little to Arthur Bloxham.

"It's this perishing cost of living

YOUNGBLOOD BAPTIST CHURCH 100-YEARS-OLD

Dedication services for the new addition to the Youngblood Baptist church will be held at 1:30 p. m., standard time, on Sunday, May 29. The 100th anniversary of the church also will be observed at that time.

The church was organized Dec. 23, 1854, at the home of Ezekiel McCurley. The church was named Apple Creek Baptist church at the first business meeting held the following January.

The first building was erected in 1885 and the church became a member of the Central Illinois Association of Baptist Churches. When the Macoupin association was organized in 1859 the church became a member of that body. It is now a member of the Sandy Creek Association of Baptist Churches.

Built in 1888

Because there were two Apple Creek churches in the association, the name of the Morgan County church was changed to Youngblood Baptist church in 1889.

Illinois Veterans Offices To Close Monday, Tuesday

Frank A. Robinson, service officer of the Illinois Veterans Association for Morgan, Scott and Pike Counties, announced that all offices in the central part of Illinois, including Jacksonville, will be closed Monday afternoon, May 23, and all day Tuesday, May 24, to enable the service officers and secretaries to attend a school of instruction.

Willard A. Manning, administrator of the Illinois Veterans Association, and Ralph D. Johnson, assistant administrator, will have charge of the school which will be conducted by representatives of the central office at Springfield. The sessions this year are to be held at Pere Marquette State Park.

It has been for several years the policy of the Illinois Veterans Association, Robinson reports, to hold periodical schools of instruction for service officers and secretaries of this organization so that they may keep abreast of any changes in the laws and regulations that affect veterans and their dependents, or the widows and orphans of veterans.

The present building was erected in 1888. The new addition consists of a vestibule with Sunday school rooms on each side and a basement that provides space for four classes.

Rev. Lee Anderson

The church now has a membership of 250 and the present pastor is Rev. Lee Anderson of Roodhouse.

Dr. Noel M. Taylor of Carbondale, executive secretary of the Illinois Baptist State association, will deliver the dedicatory address.

Next Sunday's program follows: Piano prelude, Mrs. Harry Bridges; Hymn, "Take Time to be Holy." Invocation, Rev. Frank Wheeler, Carlinville. Scripture, John Cain. Special music, "Bless This House," Miss Lucy Robinson. Church history, Mrs. Henry Whitlock. Dedicatory address, Dr. Noel M. Taylor.

Find Loot Taken At Club Houses; Question Boys

JERSEYVILLE — Jersey and Greene county officials joined forces Thursday and Friday in a combined effort to round up parties believed to have been implicated in the robbery of several club houses in the northwestern Jersey county and southwestern Greene county areas.

Sheriff Herman Kirchner reported Friday that he had recovered a number of items reported as missing from the Glenn Gray clubhouse in northwestern Jersey county. The items had been identified by description furnished by Gray and the fact that one of the bed pads had a tag attached to it bearing Gray's name.

The stolen items were recovered at a camping site in the vicinity of the Reddish Ford spring in northern Richwoods township, and according to Sheriff Kirchner, were in the possession of seven youths. The boys range in age from 15 to 18 years.

The youths also had in their possession a pair of oars identified as belonging to a boat previously listed as stolen. The boat had been moored in the vicinity of the Reddish Ford bridge, and the chain anchoring it to the shore had been out in two. The boat was found about a quarter of a mile downstream, tied to the bank.

The youths stated they had found the oars in the vicinity of the Reddish Ford bridge. They also claimed they had found the articles stolen from the Gray clubhouse in the vicinity of the camping site near the spring. The articles, according to the first stories told by the youths, were found in the brush where they had been left. The boys stated they appropriated them to their use in camping to supplement their own equipment.

A statement was given to Jersey and Greene county officers Thursday by one of the boys, a 15 year old youth. He gave in some detail the story of the camping trip at the Reddish Ford site. He told of fish being caught, but there was no salt to use after cooking the fish. Someone of the group told of a clubhouse not far away where salt might be obtained. The 15 year old volunteered to go for salt, and stated that he got some salt at the place suggested and also brought along some toothpicks.

The youths were ordered to appear at the sheriff's office in Jerseyville Friday morning for further questioning. They came to the courthouse Friday and were questioned during the day by State's Attorney Claude Davis regarding the camping trip and any depredations the seven may have committed in the Reddish Ford locality.

WHAT A SLOW SPORT!

A NEW SPORT has been added to the athletic department program at Colorado State College of Education at Greeley. It's turtle racing. Seven sororities at the school each entered a small turtle in the derby. Turtles were placed in the center of a six-foot circle. The turtle reaching the outside of the circle first was the winner, naturally enough. The school record for the race was set by a slow-moving turtle named Agatha, who turned in a fast (for turtles) time of one minute and 10 seconds. Agatha's victory earned her a gold trophy cup and plaudits of her backers, the Theta Sigma Upsilon sorority. Agatha's trainer said, "She trained hard."

The turtles are "at the post" in the first running of the Colorado State Turtle Derby.

Agatha, at far side of ring, nears the goal. Two other starters are not shown.

Carol Kleespies, Agatha's trainer, accepts trophy as well-wishers crowd around.

OAT MARKET STAGES RALLY, LITTLE CHANGE IN OTHER GRAINS

CHICAGO (U)—The surprise package in the grain market this week was oats. Largely as a result of a brisk rally Friday this cereal ended 1 1/4 to 2 3/4 higher for the week on the board of trade while other grains showed little price change.

During the week May futures were closed out, a process which was accomplished without much excitement despite a fairly hefty open interest in May wheat, oats and soybeans. Only in soybeans was there a last minute buying flurry.

Wheat finished the week 1/4-1/2 lower, corn 5/8-3/4 higher (borrowing strength from oats), rye 1/4-1/2 higher, soybeans 1/4 lower to 3/4 higher and land unchanged to 35 cents a hundred pounds lower.

The previously dry southwestern winter wheat belt got more rain than it wanted during the week, substituting floods for a drought in some areas. With the dry spell in the southwest broken, traders could turn their attention to some other territory.

They found a dry spot—considerably larger than a spot—in the northwest and the northern section of the Midwest. In fact, the entire northern one-third of the country east of the Rocky Mountains (except Montana and right along the Canadian border) needed rain.

This was brought to the attention of the trade by the Quaker Oats Co., which said, "actual deterioration has already taken place in Nebraska, western Iowa, all of South Dakota, the southern half of North Dakota and western Minnesota."

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (U)—The strongest recovery move of the current four week reaction developed this week in the stock market.

The recovery was nothing like the two previous rallies this year but, of course, the present reaction is nothing like its two predecessors. The year had hardly opened when the stock market dropped off in a steep reaction that started tongues wagging about the ghosts of 1929. The rebound began almost before there was a fair chance to recount all of the horrors of the '29 crash.

It was a strong recovery and carried the market to new peaks early in March. Then the year's second reaction started with a roar that carried stocks down almost to the old January lows.

For the second time the forces of recovery took hold and sent the market zipping ahead to even higher record peaks. Last April 26 as the top. Thereupon the third reaction began. That's the one we are in now.

By comparison with the previous two, it is a pale thing. The market has been backing and filling with brief advances and retreats that have carried the price level down gradually. The pace of trading has been slow, whereas exceptionally high volume accompanied the previous market moves.

On the final three days of this week the market advanced, the best sustained strength it has been able to muster. The rise wasn't a runaway affair, but it did break the pattern of the decline.

And now the question naturally is whether the market can keep up that gain with enough determination to challenge the old high marks of late April.

This week the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was ahead $1.00 at $163.50. The April 26 peak was $166.80. That's not very far away. On the other hand, the low of the year was $148.80 on Jan. 17.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (U)—Irregularity in the bond market this week partly obscured the fact that prices were working lower and interest yields higher.

This has been the pattern since the start of the year—prices drifting irregularly lower and, consequently, yields becoming more attractive.

The day-to-day observer often finds this trend impossible to discern. Not only do many investment quality bonds improve every season while the majority may ease, but special types cloud the picture.

Income bonds and obligations convertible into common stock, which are becoming more numerous every year, follow the actions of the stock market as a rule. Bonds in default make their own paths.

But a glance at the Associated Press bond averages clearly shows the direction of the market. The AP railroad bond average has declined from 99.6 to 98.6 since the first of the year. Industrials from 99.8 to 98.5, utilities from 99.9 to 97.5 and low-yield bonds from 106.1 to 105.5.

All of the AP corporate bond averages finished this week at or close to their lowest levels of the year.

The government bond market tells a similar story.

Giants Nip Pirates 3-2; Cubs' Hacker Hurls 1 Hitter

Relief Hurlers Halt Rally To Hand Bucs 9th Straight Loss

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—Relief pitchers Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom went to the mound in the ninth inning to halt a rally aided by an error and a passed ball and gave the resurgent New York Giants a 3-2 triumph over the faltering Pittsburgh Pirates.

It was the ninth consecutive loss for the puncheonless Pirates, one more than their longest previous losing streak this season. In the nine games, Pittsburgh scored only 11 runs.

The triumph enabled the Giants to retain a firm grip on second place in the National League race.

The Giants went into the final stanza with a 3-1 edge but almost booted the win away.

Singles by Preston Ward and pinch hitter Jerry Lynch put two men aboard and manager Leo Durocher yanked starter Sal Maglie for Wilhelm.

A passed ball by catcher Ray Katt allowed Ward to score and Lynch to advance to second. Sid Gordon came up as a pinch hitter and struck out, but Katt let the ball get away and Gordon reached first safely.

Durocher then called on Grissom who got Roberto Clemente to fly out to end the inning.

Dodgers Edge Phils 6-4; End Losing Streak

BROOKLYN (AP)—Brooklyn's four-game losing "slump" ended Saturday as the Dodgers used homers by Roy Campanella and Sandy Amoros in the fifth and six walks in the sixth to down Philadelphia, 6-4, with only four hits. The Phils had 12 hits.

Dave Cole, making his first start of the season, hadn't allowed a Dodger hit until Campanella belted his ninth homer after Pee Wee Reese walked in the fourth. Amoros followed with his fourth homer.

In the sixth, the Phil pitching staff really lost its touch. After Cole walked Jackie Robinson and Junior Gilliam and ran a 2-0 count on Reese, he gave way to Bob Miller.

Miller promptly walked Reese to load the bases. With Robinson leading off, Miller walked home on each pitch to annoy Miller. Snider drew a walk, forcing home Robinson. Campanella's sacrifice fly scored Gilliam and moved up the other runners, leaving first open. Miller walked Amoros intentionally to fill the bases again and then passed on Hodges unintentionally, forcing home Reese.

Thornton Kipper finally came in to get the final out. The inning totals showed three runs on no hits with no errors and three left on base.

United States Cops Walker Cup

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—The United States took the Walker Cup for the 14th time Saturday in 15 tries with an almost embarrassingly easy 10-2 golf victory over the British.

A handful of golf loving Scots huddled together in a small, wet and cold crowd as the cup was presented once again to the American amateurs outside the grey, stone clubhouse of the Royal and Ancient club.

Only once before have the Americans won by such a margin in England. That was in 1930 at Sandwich when Bobby Jones, Francis Quimble and the others of that other generation downed the Scots, English and Irish by a similar 10-2 margin.

Of all the American victories today, the two which shocked Britons the most were Harvie Ward's 6 and 5 margin over Ronnie White of Liverpool. White had never lost in Walker Cup singles.

Friday the Americans swept the four foursomes matches for the first time in Walker Cup competition in Britain.

Other scorers Saturday were: Billy Joe Patton, Morganton, N.C., defeated Phil Scrutton, England, 2 and 1.

Richard Yost, Portland, Ore., defeated John Llewellyn Morgan, Wales, 8 and 7.

James Jackson, St. Louis, defeated Cecil Ewing, Ireland, 6 and 4.

Bruce Cudd, Portland, Ore., defeated Ernest Millward, England, 2 up.

David Blair, Scotland, defeated Joe Conrad, San Antonio, Tex., 1 up.

Ian Caldwell, England, defeated Dale Morey, Indianapolis, 1 up.

Mike Anderson Cops DP Tourney

Mike Anderson won the 18-hole medal play David Prince intramural golf tournament held at the Nichols Park course yesterday. The DP student fired a 43-46 for a total of 89. Dick Cully was second with 44-48 while Chip Culbertson had a 47-48 good for third place. Howard Timmons came in fourth with 50-46.

Thirteen boys took part in the tourney.

2 Schoolboy Grid Players Report Texas A & M Offer

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Two Texas schoolboy football stars have told the Waco News Tribune they were offered money by alumni of Texas A&M to play football for the Aggies.

Sports Editor Dave Campbell quoted the boys, Toni Sestak of Gonzales and Bobby Manning of Yoakum, as saying they were offered $200 in cash, $50 a month over and above an athletic scholarship and a summer job at $90 a week to sign letters of intent to A&M.

This would violate Southwestern Conference recruiting rules.

The conference last week placed A&M on 2-years probation, cancelled its letters of intent and held that the Aggies could not compete in post-season events.

Campbell, in his story in the News-Tribune, quoted the boys as saying two A&M ex-students made the offers, and that Manning also added that he was promised a down payment on an automobile and a job for his brother when the latter got out of service.

The boys revealed also that they signed the letters of intent before Texas interscholastic league rules permitted.

Howard Rubbs, executive secretary of the conference, said he talked to the boys about the situation. He would make no further comment.

Just before last week's conference meeting, the A&M athletic committee declared the boys ineligible at A&M.

Sestak now has signed a letter of intent to Baylor University and Manning has said he plans to attend the University of Texas.

The David Prince heavyweight track squad ended its highly successful season Friday by winning their fifth meet of the season. The local thinclads failed to lose a meet and also won the Quincy Invitational.

Willie May Leads Blue Island To State Track Championship

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Willie May, lanky 17-year-old senior, won both hurdles and gunned the 880-yard relay team to victory Saturday to boost Blue Island's Cardinals to their first State High School Track Championship in the meet's 69-year history.

The northern schools dominated the big schoolboy sports carnival as they have for the last 30 years, with New Trier of Winnetka taking second with 14 1-3 points compared to Blue Island's 18.

North Chicago was third with 13, followed by York of Elmhurst with 10 1-2, Bloom of Chicago Heights with 9 1-2, and Phillips of Chicago with 9.

May was one of two double winners in a meet that produced only one record—in Friday's preliminaries. Gusty winds and slight rain cramped record attempts at Illinois Memorial Stadium in the finals.

The other double champion was North Chicago's Vern Estes. He took the 100-yard dash in 10.3, with Glenbard's Ward Miller second, and the 220 in 21.7 with Phillip's John Lattimore 10 feet behind.

Coach Olin Drive's Blue Island Champions scooted through the 880-yard relay in 1:29.8, only six-tenths of a second off the record and the best time in the state this season. Carrying the colors were Ron Helberg, Paul Fuller, May and Bob Rechard. Phillips of Chicago was barely beaten out.

Blue Island added three more points with Rechard's third place finish in the 220 to sharpen their winning team margin.

Ron Long of Mooseheart scored an upset in the mile. He jetted

Rookie Paces Tigers' 3-2 Edge Of Cleveland

DETROIT (AP)—Rookie Duke Maas, less than a year out of the Class A Eastern League, scalped the Cleveland Indians Saturday 3-2 for the Detroit Tigers and dumped the Tribe out of first place in the American League.

The New York Yankees took over the league lead by half a game on the strength of a 9-4 verdict against Baltimore.

The Indians' only runs came in the second on a walk and singles by Sam Dente and Jim Hegan and in the fourth on singles by Dave Philley and Dente and a sacrifice fly by loser Mike Garcia.

In the second inning, after a walk by Ferris Fain, Jim Delsing hit back to the mound. Garcia threw to second but the shot rolled into center field. Fain made it all the way to third and Delsing wound up on second.

A sacrifice bunt by Fred Hatfield scored Fain. A two-out single by Harry Malmberg brought in Delsing.

The run that made the difference came in the fourth. Hatfield led off with a walk, took third on a single by Red Wilson and scooted home as Malmberg grounded into a double play.

The victory was the fourth in succession over the Indians for the Tigers who lead the season's series, four games to three.

Grid TV Question To Be Discussed In Big 10 Meeting

CHICAGO (AP)—The slicing of a $700,000 football television mealon will be contemplated as Big Ten athletic officials hold their spring meeting in connection with the conference outdoor track meet in Columbus next weekend.

The conference already has decided on an equal 10-way distribution but this will be the first business session since last Thursday's agreement with the Columbia Broadcasting System for telecasting five Big Ten games regionally next fall.

The regional telecasts, within the Fourth National Collegiate Athletic Assn. District, reportedly will pay $75,000 per game. In addition, four Big Ten teams will draw $320,000 from appearances on the NCAA's national TV program which pays $160,000 per game.

At the Columbus meeting, the conference will study the question of possibly revising distribution if particular schools are hurt at the gate by the telecasts.

Faculty representatives and athletic directors also are expected to act on:

1. Indiana's petition to excuse outside competition by two freshman basketball stars, Charles Brown and Paxton Lumpkin, who were ruled ineligible for one year by Commissioner K.L. (Tug) Wilson for playing in a Chicago AAU tourney during Easter vacation.

2. Michigan's proposal to reconsider a new eligibility rule whereby alien students would be charged a year's eligibility for all competition abroad after their 19th birthday.

3. Recommendation that the Big Ten's outside competition rule be modified to permit swimmers and track athletes to compete for clubs during the summer vacation months, as do baseball players. (This is aimed especially at preparation for the 1956 Olympic games).

Football coaches will meet at Columbus Wednesday to discuss officiating matters and rules interpretation and Wednesday night the athletic directors and faculty representatives begin their sessions.

Johnny Adams Rides 3,000th Winner

CHICAGO (AP)—Jockey Johnny Adams, 44-year-old grandfather, Saturday rode his 3,000th winner to attain a goal reached by only three other American thoroughbred riders.

Adams, a native of Iowa, Kan., hit the 3,000 mark aboard Mister Black in the $25,000 added Continental Handicap feature of the day's Balmoral program at Washington Park.

Veteran of 21 track seasons, Adams thus moved into the select company of Johnny Longden, Eddie Arcaro and Ted Atkinson, only others to reach the 3,000 mark in American turf competition.

Longden has more than 4,500 victories, Arcaro over 3,460 and Atkinson more than 2,150.

Redlegs Jar Cardinals 9-6; Collum In Relief

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds raced to their fifth straight victory clubbing the St. Louis Cardinals 9-6 with a six-run spree in the sixth inning and on excellent relief pitching by little Jackie Collum.

The six runs were tallied on five hits, including Bob Thurman's fifth homer of the season, a sacrifice and an error. It was the second time in two days the Reds fashioned a come-from-behind triumph over the Cardinals with a six-run inning.

Collum was brought into the contest in the third inning with a man on third base and no outs and the Reds behind 3-1. Collum retired the side without allowing center-fielder Bill Virdon to score and then pitched masterful ball until the ninth inning. He got into a jam in the ninth when the Cardinals rallied for two runs, but he regained control to take his first victory of the season.

His batterymate, catcher Smokey Burgess, continued his torrid pace at the plate, coming through with his sixth home run. In his last 11 at-bats, Burgess has homered three times, tripled twice and singled twice.

Crow's Pinch Homer Only Hit As Bruins Defeat Braves 2-1

MILWAUKEE (AP)—George Crowe's pinch hit homer with one out in the ninth ruined a no-hit no-run game this afternoon for veteran Hacker of the Chicago Cubs. But Hacker ended up with a one-hit masterpiece and a 2-1 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves.

The only man to get to first until Crowe's blast was left fielder Chuck Tanner, who walked in the fourth.

Thus the Cubs, who started the 1953 National League campaign without a no-hit pitching performance to their credit in 40 years, came within two outs of getting their second perfect mound performance in nine days. Sam (Toothpick) Jones set Pittsburgh down on a no-hitter in Chicago May 12.

Hacker, 30, has never had a no-hitter. He didn't strike out a man Saturday but his control was perfect nonetheless. The Cubs backed him up with errorless ball as they won their fourth straight game to stay just a whisker behind the second place Giants of New York.

Hacker grounded out to open the sixth. Ed Miksis walked and Gene Baker followed with a single to right. The ball got past Aaron and Miksis came all the way around.

In the seventh first baseman Dee Fondy connected for his sixth homer—into the right field bleachers—with none on.

Wisconsin Boat Crew Wins

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Wisconsin defeated California by three boat lengths in a three-mile crew race on the Oakland Estuary Saturday.

Wisconsin's time was 15 minutes 47 seconds; California's 15:50.

It was Wisconsin's fourth consecutive victory in the series of intercollegiate races. California had won the first six races against the Badgers.

Wisconsin's crew, huskier than the Bears, was stroked by Bill Schneider, with Stanley Smith as coxswain.

California held on for the final mile, and was only 6 feet behind as the second mile started. But from then on the Badger oarsmen gradually pulled ahead.

California's fresh crew defeated Orange Coast College by about 5 feet in a 2,000 meter sprint.

White Sox Defeat A's 7-4; Yanks Top Baltimore 9-4

Donovan Gets 5th Win As Five Chicago Doubles Spark Attack

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox hammered five two-baggers to back rookie hurler Dick Donovan to his fifth victory with a 7-4 decision over the Kansas City A's Saturday.

Donovan yielded 11 hits against Kansas City which April 24 inflicted his only loss but had to be rescued by Virgil Trucks in the 9th. The smooth-working Sox right hander had his string of 19 consecutive scoreless innings broken in the second frame by Bill Wilson's No. 7 homer.

Trucks came in with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth and struck out Vic Power to end the game.

The loser was little Bobby Shantz, his fourth setback against three victories. Shantz, who was chased in the sixth, thus suffered his third reversal by the Sox.

Ray Herbert and Johnny Sain followed Shantz to the mound. After the A's moved ahead on Wilson's second inning homer, the Sox picked up two in the bottom of the inning on the first of Bob Nieman's two doubles, Jim Rivera's walk, Vern Stephens' fly and Serm Lollar's single.

The A's tied it at 2-2 in the third on Power's walk and Elmer Valo's triple, but in the fourth the Sox moved ahead for keeps with two runs on doubles by Nieman, Rivera and Stephens.

Cal Niday Sets Pace In 500-Mile Qualifying Trials

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Cal Niday of Pacoma, Calif., one of the country's top auto race drivers in spite of an artificial leg, set the pace Saturday in the third qualifying session for the 500-mile race May 30.

Niday was the fastest of 12 qualifiers with a 10-mile run at 140.302 miles an hour.

Eight cars were qualified last weekend, leaving 13 positions in the starting field to be filled in final trials Saturday.

Nobody was hurt in three accidents.

FAN BREEZES

BY BILL MERRIS

By way of the Illinois State Journal and the Dope Bucket comes word that Jim O'Donnell of Winchester hurled a fine game recently only to lose to Decatur 1-0. O'Donnell, now pitching for Hannibal in the M.O.V. league, is a brother of George who is hurling for Hollywood. Another of George's brothers, Joe, is with this same Hannibal team as is Mel Engelbrecht, a former Chapin athlete.

Now that the Illinois Supreme Court has ruled it's okay for gals to wrestle professionally in the state we can probably look forward to seeing the mat sport in the local bowl again come fall.

Wrestling, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus, started with a bang but faded out last winter and was dropped. Although we have no official word on the subject it is our guess it will resume next fall with women on the program. The gals might be what is needed to get the sport started once more.

Although no local baseball team survived the district this was a good year for records. The Jacksonville High Crimson, who went to the finals of the district, ended their 1955 season with a 11-2 record. The only teams to defeat the Jacks were Quincy and Pittsfield. The ISD Tigers, who were defeated by the Crimson in the sub-district, ended a highly successful season with an 11-3 record. The only teams to defeat the Tigers were Bluffs, Mt. Sterling and Jacksonville.

Although they didn't have quite as good a win-loss mark as the other two prep nines the Blue Rockets enjoyed considerable success with their inexperienced team. IC with five straight victories raised its record to an 8-6 mark. The Blueboys end their season Tuesday against Concordia of Springfield. Four of IC's victories are Prairie conference wins and a victory over Concordia Tuesday could move the Blueboys into second place in the small college loop.

College friends of John Ellison were shocked to learn the former IC pitcher was killed when his Navy plane crashed near his base in Florida. John attended IC two years and was one of the top pitchers for the Blueboys during this time. He left school to join the Naval Cadets.

Rocks Ricochet To Tune Of $48; Boys Released

A $48.02 property damage bill has removed all the fun from rock throwing for four Jacksonville boys, ages 14 to 17.

They have been released into the custody of their parents after arranging to pay all damages. In addition to paying for several broken windows and a car windshield, the boys received a lecture from Chief Ike Flynn which they are not likely to forget.

Police went to work quickly when three large windows and a small one were smashed at the grocery store of Hazel Wheeler on Hardin avenue. Another window was shattered by a rock at the Wagner cafe on East Morton avenue, and the windshield of a car owned by Ed Armstrong was cracked by a missile.

All instances of rock tossing were done from a jeepster in which several boys were riding. The police traced the vehicle and took the boys to the police station for questioning.

Parents were called in, and the boys ruefully admitted using the windows as targets—a costly bit of marksmanship!

A small gas engine and a cable drive hooked to a grinding wheel makes girdling "weed" trees a simple business in the woodlands at Dixon Springs experiment station in Pope county.

Bill May, forester for the Illinois Central railroad, demonstrated the "Little Beaver" to the farm editors that were on the station on May 6. This tree, a soft maple, is unwanted in the woodlot. It is being killed to allow more sunshine, more moisture and more plantfood for nearby white oaks.

May can girdle a tree of this size in about 10 seconds.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

WHEAT BINS BULGE AS NEW CROP NEARS

Billion Bushel Carry-Over to Set New Record

Wheat is heading out from mid-state southward. Farmers soon will roll out their combines to start the harvest. It will begin first in the southern states and then move northward to the Canadian border. With average weather, the 1955 crop should make between 825 and 850 million bushels. This prospective crop is the smallest since 1944.

But do not start looking for $3.00 wheat or worry about where your next sack of flour is coming from. Take a look into the nation's wheat bins and you will see enough wheat already there to keep our flour mills busy for two years.

On April 1 U. S. stocks of wheat totaled 1,212 million bushels. Take out enough to last until July 1, the end of this marketing year, and there will still be about a billion bushels of old wheat left for carry-over into the next crop year.

NEEDS FOR FOOD AND SEED. Our biggest use for wheat is for flour, which takes 480 million bushels each year. Only 10 million bushels are used for breakfast food. Thus our total food needs take only 490 million bushels, or less than half of the prospective carry-over on July 1 of this year.

Farmers will use about 70 million bushels of wheat for seed. So our total requirements, food and seed, amount to only 560 million bushels, or about 56 percent of the amount of old wheat that will be left over from previous crops on July 1.

EXPORTS AND FEED. Foreign buyers may take up to 240 million bushels of our wheat in the next marketing year. The export price will probably be 60 to 75 cents less than prices in U. S. markets. Uncle Sam will make up the difference with tax money from the U. S. Treasury.

We will probably use around 100 million bushels of wheat in this country for feed. Add up the uses for seed, food, feed and exports—it makes about 900 million bushels that will likely be used in the next marketing year. This is 10 percent less than the stock of old wheat that will be on hand July 1.

Actually much of this stock of old wheat cannot be depended upon as a food reserve. Some of it is two or more years old. There are no reserve stocks of some kinds of wheat that are required for certain purposes. Other stocks are not desirable for milling purposes for other reasons.

Recount on the Big Haul. Some weeks ago we estimated that about 1,000 tons of manure would be hauled and spread on the Station this spring. Well, that estimate was too low by 25 percent. Instead, 1,325 tons were spread. The fertilizer replacement value of this manure is about $3,000!!!

Recount on Tetra Pektus Rye. Tetra Pektus rye has not yielded so well as Balbo in forage variety trials. Three yield samplings from the same plot taken about 3 weeks apart to simulate three grazings showed that Balbo yielded 5,500 pounds of dry matter, while Tetra yielded only 3,800 pounds. Tetra may still be used to supplement Balbo and lengthen the rye grazing season, as it remains productive for a longer time. It is much later in joining.

WHO'S BUGS NOW? SAN DIEGO, Calif. (P)—A discussion of humor was underway when Mrs. Frances Lea discovered unidentified insects invading her high school classroom.

She sent a note to the janitor reading "I have bugs" and asked the class to speculate on his reply. One boy suggested: "You're lucky. Most teachers have students." Instead the janitor sent back word: "Be right over." He was.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

IT'S A CRUEL WORLD

The Hereford beef herd at Dixon Springs experiment station got into the swing of things when the farm editors visited the station two weeks ago. One of the cows dropped the biggest calf in the history of the place. Weight, 92 pounds exactly. Most farm editors are also shuttersbugs and it is pretty safe to say that the calf was the most photographed day-older in history.

The herdsmen showed the editors how day-old bull calves are handled at Dixon Springs. First of all he's weighed. This information, plus a few words about his style and type and coloration, is written in the herd record book.

Then he is castrated, using the bloodless elastator system. Then his number is tattooed in the left ear. Next comes dehorning, with the herdsmen roughing the tender horn buds with a corncob before applying a caustic paste. Then he's permitted to go back to mama.

One of the editors remarked, "What can't happen to a day-old baby?"

There are about 300 head of grade and purebred Herefords at the station. One of the experiments in progress for the past seven years attempts to find blood lines of cattle that will grow fast on a maximum of roughage and pasture and a minimum of grain. The mother of this 92 pound youngster, for example, was in fine flesh and apparently will produce a fine flow of milk for Junior although she hasn't had a bite of harvested food for 18 months. She wintered outside on a fescue pasture, then was moved onto an alfalfa-ladino clover and fescue pasture about the first of April.

Farmers To Resist Extension-Bureau Separation Bills

Farm Bureau leaders of this area will go to Springfield Wednesday to attend a hearing on House Bills 826 and 957. They will protest the proposed measure that would divorce the extension service from the Farm Bureau and Home Bureau, and its companion bill that would allocate two million dollars of tax money to replace funds the two bureaus have been contributing toward extension work in Illinois.

Otto Steffey, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, says that the two organizations are now contributing nearly three million dollars annually toward rural education. In Illinois the I.A.A. and the Illinois Federation of Home Bureaus help extension workers by salary additions, office space, secretarial aid, travel expenses, etc.

In other states tax funds only are available to farm and home advisers. Members who disapprove of the separation are urged to either attend the hearing or to write to Allen T. Lucas, Democratic member of the House agriculture committee. His address is 2216 Whittier avenue, Springfield, and he represents the 45th Illinois district which is made up of Sangamon and Morgan counties.

The hearing will be held in Room 322 of the state house Wednesday, beginning at 2 p.m. daylight time.

Oakes Wheat Day Set For Tuesday

Many Illinois farmers, and a few from nearby states, are expected Tuesday to attend the annual Royal Oakes Wheat Day at his test plots along Naples lane northwest of Bluffs, beginning at 1:30 p.m., daylight time.

This year Oakes, an internationally known wheat specialist, is growing 19 different varieties of hard and soft wheat in half-acre plots. The visitors will inspect the different varieties and learn something about their individual strong points and weak points. After the plots are harvested Oakes will furnish yield, moisture content, weight, standability and other data on each variety.

Prospects on all fronts except the economic front are much better than they have been in recent years. Fertilizer supplies have been ample and the moisture situation is the best in years. But farmers are getting less and less of each food dollar and "sticky" production costs are staying that way.

"CENTENNIAL STATE" Colorado is known as the "Centennial State" because it was admitted to the Union in 1876, just 100 years after the Declaration of Independence.

The farmers were busy in the fields last week and not many hogs were coming to market, so the men of the Chapin station, Midwest Order Buyers, had plenty of time to devote to something new: six burros.

The visitors from Texas are being carried a couple of times each day to help them get rid of their winter coats and are being trained to saddle and bridle. The burros are docile enough, but are inclined to balk considerably.

During the summer the company will send the burros to homecoming picnics, burgoos and fairs to give the kids free rides. They will not be taken however, to spots that have contracts for entertainment units with their own pony rides.

The burros will accompany the company's Midwest Order Buyers Mortgage Lifters band. The playing automaton has been decked out in new outfits: bib overalls, plaid shirt and straw hats.

The band and the burros will open the season in the May 29 parade that will precede the annual spring horse show at Beardstown. They'll be in Jacksonville the following day for the Memorial Day parade. Immediately afterwards, from about 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., the burros will be at the Hempel show grounds for free rides.

MEG HANDLES 280 HEAD OF SHEEP

Meg, a quiet, shy and efficient Border Collie, stole the show the day the farm editors of Illinois visited the Dixon Springs experiment station. She's three years old now and very well trained—but she definitely prefers sheep to editors and was mighty happy when the latter took off.

The way Meg handled the 160 lambs and the 120 ewes in the flock was fascinating to watch. Meg would lie down, with her eye on the shepherd on horseback. At a signal from him Meg would put the sheep anywhere, quietly and readily.

The shepherd says that the Border Collie is a very shy dog. Those that you sometimes see demonstrating with a half-dozen sheep at big stock shows are exceptional critters and are very hard to find and to train.

The shepherd is breaking in Meg, who will work with Meg in handling the more than 2,000 head of sheep on the place each year. The shepherd is training Meg in reverse. That is, a signal will mean one thing to Meg and the opposite direction for Peg. The shepherd figures that a right-handed dog and a left-handed one working in unison will save him a lot of work.

Around the first of May ewes and lambs were moving from grass pastures, mostly fescue, onto ladino clover and other legumes for rapid finish for an early June market. They don't know it, but they are eating themselves to a rapid death. They now weigh more than 60 pounds and they are expected to gain at least two-third pound per head per day. That gain will push them into market weights by early June. Gains of about one-half pound per day have been obtained on grass, but the gains stop as the grass matures.

The station always aims for the June lamb market, because the price is usually good then and the lambs are off the place without being tortured by the parasites and heat that comes with summer temperatures.

Plan Dairy Promotion Meeting Here June 1

Morgan County farmers and homemakers kickoff their 1955 Dairy Promotion campaign June 1, at a meeting scheduled in the Farm Bureau Building, Jacksonville according to an announcement Wednesday by Harold D. Kamm, president of the Morgan County Farm Bureau.

"Purpose of our local drive is to increase consumption of all dairy products," Kamm said.

Similar to last year's dairy promotion campaign in which retail sales of all dairy products were raised about 13 percent in Illinois, the 1955 Dairy Promotion effort by the County Farm Bureau is designed to route milk into consumption rather than government storage, Kamm said.

Dairy promotion efforts benefit housewives and farmers, Kamm continued. Campaigns help consumers become conscious of the fact that dairy products are quality food offered at low prices, he continued, adding that, "when consumers buy more, the government buys less of the surplus milk under the price support program."

Clarence Duwer, chairman Farm Bureau marketing committee, said the following persons are invited to attend the meeting June 1, 1955 at 8:30 p. m. (DST) where details of Morgan County's Dairy Promotion campaign will be planned:

(1) Operators of food stores, dairy and snack bars, and restaurants.

(2) Representatives of the press. This includes newspaper editors, and personnel of radio and television stations.

(3) Company representatives engaged in home delivery of dairy products.

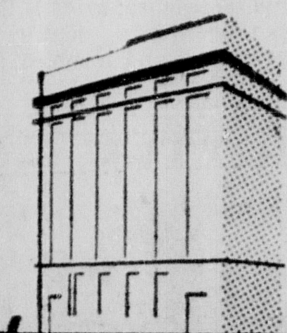

(4) Others who have contact with consumers at the point of sale.

IMPORTANT ACCOMPLISHMENT

President Eisenhower's liberalizing foreign trade program is not yet out of the woods, but it has moved close to the clearing due to the Senate Finance Committee's overwhelmingly favorable endorsement.

Opponents of the legislation are bringing up their guns for another barrage on the Senate floor. Still, there is good prospect the program will come through largely unscathed.

The measure approved by the Senate committee is free of all really crippling amendments. Two major qualifications were adopted, but neither one takes away the President's essential discretionary power in matters of tariff adjustment.

The proposal sent to the floor extends for three years, instead of the usual one, the President's authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements.

It further empowers him to reduce individual tariffs five per cent a year for each of three years. And wherever tariff rates exceed 50 per cent, he could lower them to that level.

These liberalizing features plus the longer extension are the heart of Mr. Eisenhower's trade plan, whose aim is to stimulate broader trading with our friends abroad so they may become more self-reliant economically.

The reciprocal trade program, in its two decades of life, has been a steady target of the high tariff advocates in the nation. This year was no exception. If anything, the struggle has been tougher than ever.

Many American economic interests have sought to impose compulsory import quotas, restricting the inflow of key commodities like oil and certain metals. Had even one been adopted as an amendment, it would have been hard to bar the door to a flood of others.

The committee stopped the rush with a compromise plan that would authorize import quotas or other limits in cases where it was judged that imports actually threaten national security. But the President, not the Tariff Commission or defense officials, would still make the final decision whether U. S. industries vital to security were being hurt.

The committee-approved bill also would make it somewhat easier for domestic producers to claim injury from imports. But the President would retain power to reject a Tariff Commission recommendation for higher tariffs in such cases. So far Presidents Truman and Eisenhower have turned down 10 out of 15 such recommendations.

Considering the dire predictions often made this year respecting the fate of the President's foreign trade program, the Finance Committee's action represents an important accomplishment.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Reflections of a pavement Plato:

Youth is a dream, but the great dreamers of this world aren't the young. They are the middle-aged.

This is particularly true today, when the generations seem to have reversed their traditional order in the pattern of life.

In the past it was the young man who was regarded as idealistic, impractical and emotionally immature. The middle-aged man was supposed to be a solid, sober, quiet head of the family, practical in outlook and the real balance wheel of civilization.

He might be in a rut in both a business and social sense, but he enjoyed his rut to a considerable extent. It was at least better than having no rut at all to protect him from the winds of adversity. And he had to remember, after all, he had reached "the age of responsibility."

The young man today is the planner, the schemer, the one who wants to tie all the loose ends of his life in a neat little package. He often isn't trying to avoid a rut; he is looking for a nice soft one he can burrow into and become a settled citizen.

His goals are quite practical—a safe and secure job, a safe wife, they cannot be.

a good car, a sound house in a sound neighborhood.

It is the middle-aged man now whose dreams are in technicolor and are played on a wide vision screen. He is the great adolescent of our time. He wants to be young in the way youth used to be young. The less secure a human being feels the more he turns to his fantasies.

Look inside the skull of a middle-aged man (or, to a slightly lesser degree, a middle-aged woman) and you discover a great big confused, overgrown problem child.

Security, which seems a possibility to a young man, is a lost impossible dream to a middle-aged man. He has weathered too many financial depressions and world wars to put complete trust in the durability of money or peace.

Medicine may eventually slow the ravages of time in others, but he looks in the mirror and sees any such scientific victory will come too late to benefit him much.

It is the middle-aged people today who are trying to "live it up" who fight the rutted road they travel, who seek impossible escapes from the prison of reality, who try to do new things they can't and seek to become what they are not. They cannot be.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Millions of workers are involved in the wrestling match between the Eisenhower administration and some Senate Democrats over the meaning of words.

The words involve a boost in the minimum wage and its extension to workers not now covered. In spite of the talk and the words, there's a good chance there will be no increase.

About 24 million workers in businesses which deal across state lines—such as factories producing goods shipped in interstate commerce—are covered by the federal minimum wage law. It requires that they be paid at least 76 cents an hour.

Another 20 million people working for wages and salaries are not covered. This group includes farm workers, such people as small grocery store clerks, employees of banks, and people employed by theater, grocery, hotel and movie theater chains, and employed in 5- and 10-cent store chains.

In his Jan. 6 State of the Union message President Eisenhower said of the minimum wage: "I recommend its increase to 90 cents an hour. I also recommend that many others, at present excluded, be given protection of the minimum wage."

Congress set the present minimum of 76 cents an hour in 1950. Since then living costs have gone up about 15 per cent.

The big labor organizations want the minimum set at $1.25. The administration sticks to 90 cents. A boost from 76 to 90 cents would mean an automatic raise for about one million manufacturing employees in the South, and 300,000 others.

Just how many of those 20 million uncovered workers did Eisenhower want brought under the protection of the law with a 90-cent minimum wage?

He had left it "many others" in his message. But on April 14 Secretary of Labor Mitchell went before the Senate Labor Committee to explain the administration's views. The committee is considering a bill to boost the minimum.

Mitchell said he knew of no "sound reason" why the minimum wage should not be extended to employees of interstate chain stores, interstate hotels and motion picture chains, and some other workers. They'd total about two million.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) a committee member, said he took this to mean the administration was recommending those two million employees be brought under the law. Then the wrestling began.

Douglas says the administration is "wrestling" Mitchell says now the administration wants minimum wage coverage "extended to millions more Americans."

How many millions exactly? That's up to Congress to decide, Mitchell says. He says he hopes the issue of expanded coverage will not be "obscured by quibbling about words."

Before it quits in midsummer, the Senate may pass some kind of minimum wage bill.

But it can't become law unless the House also approves. Yet, with summer drawing close, the House hasn't started committee hearings.

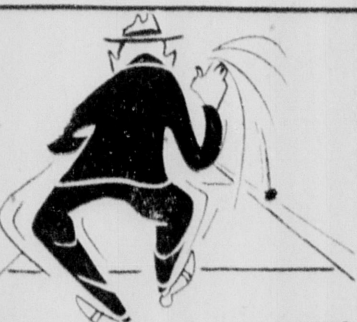

Security, which seems a possibility to a young man, is a lost impossible dream to a middle-aged man. He has weathered too many financial depressions and world wars to put complete trust in the durability of money or peace.

Medicine may eventually slow the ravages of time in others, but he looks in the mirror and sees any such scientific victory will come too late to benefit him much.

It is the middle-aged people today who are trying to "live it up" who fight the rutted road they travel, who seek impossible escapes from the prison of reality, who try to do new things they can't and seek to become what

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn may be the inspiration to reverse the Davy Crockett long-hair fad among kids.

A couple of days ago nine-year-old Scott Carpenter was asked by his teacher to make a talk on some political subject and pretend to be a prominent legislator on Capitol Hill.

Scott, selecting Rayburn as the man he would be, prepared an inspirational talk on the speaker's state of Texas. Then on his way to school Scott stopped in at the barber shop and had his hair shaved off to simulate Rayburn's bald pate.

Needless to say, his mother, Elizabeth Carpenter, president of the Women's National Press Club, had not sanctioned this bit of realism, even though she reports for a group of Texas newspapers.

SEN. NORRIS COTTON (R-NH) is going on a diet. While attending a ceremony recently at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, he noticed a member of the military guard standing at attention.

"His slim, trim body made me conscious of my own billowing figure," admitted the 230-pound senator. "From now on no more bread, potatoes or sweets for me."

REPUBLICANS ARE eagerly looking forward to Aug. 20, for at last they're going to have a big wedding in the official family. That's the date stunning Pat Priest will be married to White House Aide Lt. Cmdr. Pierce Andrew Jensen Jr., USN. She's the daughter of Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, U. S. treasurer.

It promises to be a matrimonial whing-ding. Government official and diplomatic society will be invited. In fact, so many people are expected for the reception that it probably will be held in the new ballroom of the Sheraton - Park Hotel, which its owners claim is the world's largest.

Luckily, 18-year-old Pat will have plenty of help. Her maid of honor, Mary-Stuart Montague Price, who is one of the town's most popular social consultants is handling the whole affair.

DURING THE governors' conference, which took place here recently, one chief executive from a western state was particularly sore at the way the drought situation was being handled in his state.

Finally this Democratic governor cornered a high Agriculture Department official after one of the meetings.

"Look here," he exclaimed in a voice everybody could hear, "this drought is bipartisan. It's killing Republican cows as well as Democratic cows."

A SNAPPY HAT belonging to Mrs. Charles E. Wilson is causing as much chatter in social circles as some of her husband's famous remarks.

Everybody gawked when the defense secretary's wife showed up at a party wearing a bonnet covered with orange blossoms and three huge imitation oranges. The lady just wanted all to know she recently returned from a trip to Florida.

DEMOCRATIC MICE no longer strike consternation in the hearts of either Republican elephants or Republican women, for that matter. This was demonstrated here during the National Republican Women's conference. Victor A. Johnston, director of the Senate Republican campaign committee, was making a talk to the ladies on how to elect a Republican Senate in 1956.

In the middle of his remarks, Mr. Johnston noticed a commotion. It was the mouse—Democratic indubitably, and a holdover from previous administration meetings in this place.

Miss Bertha Adkins, blonde and blue-eyed assistant to National Republican Chairman Leonard A. Hall in charge of women's activities, saved the day.

She did not scream. She got a broom. She killed the mouse.

Mr. Johnston finished his speech.

WHEN SECRETARY OF Commerce Sinclair Weeks came back from a visit to an international trade conference in Europe, he found that his suite in the Commerce building had been refurbished and redecorated for the first time since Jesse James of Houston was secretary during World War II.

They're still waiting for his reaction to the hanging of the pictures of the first three commerce secretaries in his private office because two of them are Democrats. They are William C. Redfield and Joshua W. Alexander. They know he won't mind the third, Herbert Hoover.

When the decorators found moths in the draperies, someone called them the last of the holdover Democrats.

Also, in the process, the mouse that had been getting into the secretary's cookie jar was discovered and exterminated.

Fresh Asparagus With Dutch Crumbs Is Delicious

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Refrigerator trains from Arizona and California are rushing fresh artichokes, asparagus, broccoli, peas, carrots and onions to our markets. The California avocado growers report the largest crop on record. So let's enjoy ourselves.

Barbara Clinton, home economist of the Western Growers Association, developed these two recipes for us. They are really delicious.

Hearty Stuffed Artichokes (Serves 6)

Six western artichokes, 1/2 pound lean ground beef, 1/2 cup finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons salad oil, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 3/4 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 egg, 6 slices tomato, salt, pepper and dash of allspice.

Wash artichokes, trim stems, pull off tough outer leaves. Cut off 1-3 of top. Spread artichokes open by placing upside down on table and pressing stem ends firmly.

Dig out center leaves and fuzzy portion with spoon. Brown beef and onion in salad oil; remove from heat. Stir in parsley, bread crumbs, egg, salt, pepper and allspice. Fill centers of artichokes with meat mixture.

Place in deep baking dish. Top each artichoke with a thin tomato slice. Season generously with salt and salad oil. Put one inch of water in baking dish; add lemon juice. Cover tightly and bake at 350 degrees F. for 1 1/2 hours, or until tender.

Fresh Asparagus With Dutch Crumbs (Serves 6)

To prepare Dutch crumbs melt 1/2 cup butter or margarine in small skillet or saucepan. Stir in 1/2 cup dry crumbs and brown well. Wash two pounds of asparagus thoroughly and remove any loose scales. Place whole stalks in one inch of boiling salted water.

Cook covered 10 to 15 minutes—no longer. They will be flavorful and tender. Remove stalks from water carefully, top with Dutch crumbs and serve immediately.

MONDAY'S DINNER: Tomato juice, hamburgers, frozen French-fried potatoes, fresh asparagus with Dutch crumbs, soft rolls, butter or margarine, leftover cake with custard sauce, coffee, tea, milk.

Little Steps, One by One, Needed to Reach the Goal

"If you have a great ambition take as big a step as possible in the direction of fulfilling it, but if the step is only a tiny one, don't worry if it is the largest one now possible."

A woman said that, Mildred McAfee. And it is something every housewife should remember. For a housewife's life from day to day seems to be made up of countless small steps—cooking breakfast, washing dishes, watching over children, washing clothes, scrubbing floors, going to market—and so on and on.

If a woman, taking these small steps over and over again, loses sight of the great and worthwhile ambitions the steps are leading up to then her work is drudgery of the worst kind.

She is frustrated and bored and tired and unhappy. She has forgotten why all the many steps are necessary—and where they are supposed to lead.

GOALS MUST BE KEPT IN MIND

She must keep in her mind the vision of a happy home, children who are getting the kind of home life and character training that will fit them to become fine men and women, a husband who enjoys his family, loves his wife and feels she is a help to him and a picture of herself as the kind of woman she wants to be. She can't fail then, to see that the steps are necessary ones, leading to worthwhile goals.

This is a difficult thing for a woman to do. Marriages, sometimes, falter, children progress and then slip back and the wife and mother, herself, never quite seems to be measuring up to what she wants to be. But difficult as it is, it is necessary to a woman's happiness.

No human being can get to feeling that all his efforts are leading nowhere without being miserably unhappy.

So hang onto the vision of the goals you are striving to reach—and you will know that all those endless steps and responsibilities are leading you where you want to go.

BUGGY DAZE—The past met the present in LaPorte, Ind., this week when a horse and buggy driven by Frank Hitesman, 75, of nearby Pindola, Ind., came to town on a visit. Both Hitesman, bewhiskered but spry, and the stallion, Golden Dawn, seem puzzled by a parking meter which hardly resembles the old hitching rack. Hitesman used it anyway when told how the contraption worked. He admitted it has been some time since his last visit.

Flowers Grow Fastest From Garden-Sown Seed

Plants which mature where their seed is sown flower more quickly than those which suffer the set-back due to transplanting.

Techniques for sowing seed direct in the garden are the same for flowers as for vegetables.

To grow specimen flowers, for use in arrangements, or competition in flower shows there is no better way than to grow them in rows, with feeding, cultivation, and irrigation such as you give vegetables.

When flowers are grown in borders, or placed at focal points for landscape decoration, the problem of sowing is much the same as sowing vegetables in hills.

Dig a shallow hole, mix plant food with the bottom soil, cover this with fresh soil, and sow seed in this. Depth of sowing, covering the seed with porous soil, firming soil over seed, but not too firm, keeping the soil moist until germination, all are the same as with vegetables.

When a mass display of color is desired, from low growing plants such as annual phlox, or portulaca, seed may be broadcast on a prepared area, and raked into the soil.

Thinning out flowers is just as important as with vegetables. Crowded plants cannot thrive. Plants should never be close enough to touch each other, until they are fully mature, when their spreading branches may form a canopy of beauty through which no soil can be seen.

All annual flowers can be grown from direct sown seed, but those which germinate slowly require more patience. There is no reason to confine your efforts to the fast germinating kinds, however. Many of the most beautiful kinds take only a few days longer to appear.

Garden carnations germinate in 10 days, and surpass the florists' carnations in variety of colors if not in size. African daisies, which like hot sun and dry weather, are up in 15 days and bring to the garden colors which no other flowers duplicate, including white daisies that glisten like white enamel, and unusual orange tones. Annual pinks (8 days) are far more beautiful than the hardy pinks, and bear their flowers all summer.

Helichrysoms, or straw flowers, are not only useful for winter bouquets. The improved varieties have colors that will stand out in any garden planting, or summer flower arrangement.

If a mass of bright red is desired as a contrasting background, or accent in the border, the 1955 All America celosia Toreador will serve well. Celosias take 20 days to germinate, but they not only provide color in masses all summer, but can be dried for winter bouquets.

Every garden should grow fragrant flowers. Most fragrant of the annuals is the sweet tobacco. The old variety nicotiana affinis is the most fragrant; some of the improved varieties have lost much of their perfume. It takes 20 days to germinate, but seldom fails to appear and grow to maturity. The tubular flowers close in midday, but open as evening approaches, and emit their rich perfume.

Mignonette (8 days) must be sown direct in the garden, because it resents transplanting. It was a favorite in grandmother's day and still contributes rich fragrance to gardens, and to bouquets in which it is used.

Near a terrace or patio, always grow white moonflowers. To watch its huge white blossoms open shortly after sunset will entertain any group of friends. The large buds ready to open are easily spotted in advance and the performance lasts about half an hour. White moonflower blossoms are larger than any morning glories.

BORN TODAY

On this day, in 1813, Richard Wagner was born in Leipzig, Germany.

Wagner was a great writer of music. He began writing music when he was very young.

At first many people did not like his music. It was different from the music they were used to. Now, almost everyone likes the music of Wagner.

If you have ever been to a wedding, you have probably heard the "Wedding March From Lohengrin." It is the one in which the notes at the beginning seem to be saying "Here comes the bride."

Wagner wrote this music.

TINIEST HELICOPTER by Emma Mae Leonhard

One morning I was telling a group of boys and girls about birds. I asked them to guess what bird in Jacksonville was the tiniest. Up went hands in every direction. One boy guessed a sparrow. I imagine he knew only the English Sparrow. But it's better to know a sparrow than not to know any bird, isn't it? A little girl guessed a sparrow too. I suppose, because the little boy had

Then another boy got closer in his guess; he guessed a wren. Jenny Wren is tiny, but not so tiny as the bird we're going to see this morning.

Let's go out into the garden where red and yellow columbine are blooming. Or any bright trumpet-shaped flowers may do.

Listen! Did you hear those little squeaks and squeals? Yes, they're queer sounds to come from birds; but look—there's the little squeaker. Don't you see him? No?

Look Quickly

You have to watch carefully and look quickly. He's there because he announced his coming by that little squeal. Now do you hear that buzzing hum?

Yes, you're right! There he is darting from one flower to another to sip the nectar or to eat the tiny insects with his long needle-like bill.

You are seeing the Ruby-throated Hummingbird.

Eats On The Wing

Watch him carefully. See how he hovers near the flower. He can eat from the flower when he's hanging out there in the air, not resting on anything.

See how fast his wings beat; they look just like a blurry gauze and beat faster than we can see or count. Doesn't he look and act like a little helicopter?

There he is — hovering and balancing in one spot, then backing away, then again moving forward just as he pleases.

If you stay awhile longer, he may perch on the branch of that nearby tree. There he goes for a little rest. Now you can really see how tiny he is.

See That Red?

If you wait minute, you may see a great show as he sits gazing around him. There, just as he twisted his head, did you see something?

Yes, a brilliant glowing throat that looked like a great ruby. Lots of people have never seen that ruby throat, for the sun has to shine on it just right to make it gleam red; otherwise, it looks black.

Only Mr. Hummingbird has that red throat; Mrs. Hummingbird's is white.

Tiny But Brave

This little fellow is also brave and strong. He'll attack any enemy—even a hawk—if he becomes angry. When he goes South for the winter, he can fly great distances without a single stop for food or rest.

Yes, this tiniest bird helicopter is a wonder in birdland.

Several states have laws which require young hunters seeking their first hunting licenses to take instruction in the proper care and use of firearms.

TORNADOES by Ray Broekel

Although Hurricanes cause a great amount of destruction, the tornado is considered to be the monster of all winds. Hurricanes gradually build themselves up, whereas Tornadoes strike swiftly and without advance notice.

Tornadoes are more common in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys than in any other section of our country. Our own state of Illinois is in this section.

What is a Tornado?

Our earth has a layer of air around it. When this air moves we call it wind. Wind, in other words, is nothing more than air moving.

When winds reach a very high speed we give them special names. The two main types of high speed winds that start over water are hurricanes and typhoons.

Huddicanees and typhoons are the same kinds of high speed winds. The only difference is that they are called Huddicanees in the Atlantic Ocean and Typhoons in the China Seas.

This same kind of wind storm is called a cyclone in the Indian Ocean and willy-willies in Australia. So you see we have four different names for the same kind of wind storm, depending on where the storm happens to be.

Land Storm Names

When we speak of a land starting wind storm we usually mean a tornado, although we might call it a cyclone.

Tornadoes usually start on days that are calm, hot and have lots of moisture hanging in the air. Suddenly thunderstorms appear.

Rain pours and pours from the sky. Under certain conditions hailstones will also drop swiftly to the earth.

Giant Finger

Then, from the dark, gloomy thunderclouds a snake, cone-shaped whirling mass of air, its point directed toward the earth like the index finger of a giant, snakes its way downward with a sinister roar.

Tornadoes travel approximately 25 to 40 miles an hour, and wear out after they have traveled approximately 10 to 300 miles.

The inside of the funnel of the tornado works like a giant magnet. Tremendous winds suck up objects in its path. These winds inside the funnel pull upward at speeds of 100 to 200 miles per hour.

Can Lift Trains

This force can lift trains from their tracks. It can toss trucks from one street to the next. It can park chicken houses on the tops of tall elm trees.

Around the funnel winds that often reach speeds of 300 miles an hour whip about. These violent winds can drive iron shafts through cement walls and even straws into trees!

If tornadoes covered the wire area that Huddicanees cover, the destruction they would cause would be tremendous. However, the area covered by the tornado is usually limited to a diameter of around 1000 feet, but even such a small area of terrific winds can cause unbelievable amounts of damage.

One of worst tornadoes on record struck Missouri, Illinois and Indiana in 1925. It killed around 700 people and destroyed around sixteen million dollars worth of property.

What To Do

In case a tornado should suddenly appear near you, the best thing is to get underground. If you are out in the open, lie down, preferably in a low place.

If you are in a business district, perhaps the safest place is in a first high support itself if the building floor hallway, away from doors and windows and near the wall which collapses.

CULTIVATED SHEEP

There are four principal types of cultivated sheep: Merino, or fine wool; Southdown, or medium wool; Cheviot, or long wool; and Karakul, or carpet wool.

QUAINT NAME

Tensleep, Wyo., got its name from the Indians, who considered that section of the country as being "ten sleeps" distant from several other localities in Wyoming.

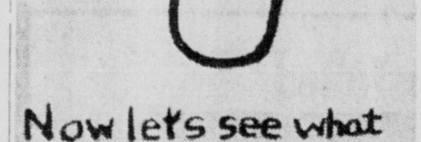

The highest known speed of a star is that of a double star in the constellation of Cygnus; the star's speed is 1,800,000 miles an hour.

"Cock-A-Doodle-Do!"- PUSS IN TROUBLE

By Loella Sloan Young

"Cock-a-doodle-doo! Cock-a-doodle-doo!" cried Rocky, the big red rooster, as he ruffled his feathers and flapped his wings. "Cock-a-doodle-doo!" he crowed again.

The sun was already high in the sky and he was late this morning.

Billy opened his eyes and yawned. "That must be Rocky," he murmured as he rubbed his eyes and stretched a long stretch. Sleepily he glanced out the window, and was surprised to see how late it was.

"Mother, Mother," he called as he ran toward the kitchen. "Has Daddy already gone?"

Mother smiled as she looked up from her work. "Yes, dear, but he said for you to come out when you were ready."

Billy turned on his heels and ran to dress. This was a big day for him. Today daddy was to start combining the oats and, of course, he wanted to be on hand to watch.

Billy Was Five

Billy was a busy five-year old. He lived in a white house with his Mother, Daddy, and little brother, George, on one of the nicest little farms in Illinois. There were cows and sheep, pigs and chickens, ducks and geese, and big strutting turkeys all to be fed and watered every day.

There were crops to be planted and harvested, weeds to be cut, fences to be stretched, and buildings to be painted and repaired. As long as Billy could remember, each day on the farm was busy.

Billy Can Help

Many times Daddy would let Billy help with the chores. Already he felt as though he were real partner.

Last night Daddy had said, "Well, tomorrow I will start combining the oats, so if you want to be on hand to watch, you'll have to get up early." Now Daddy was in the field ahead of him.

Hurriedly Billy dressed and ate his breakfast. "So long," he called to his Mother as he ran out the door, forgetting again that he shouldn't slam it.

Billy Hears Clickety-Click

Billy could hear the clickety-click of the combine as he ran across the garden and through the gate. He climbed up on the fence and sat down.

Slowly the big green tractor was chugging around the field drawing after it the combine. Quickly the big blades came around, carrying the oats inside where the rich grains were beaten off leaving only the chaff to be blown back onto the field.

Billy's Daddy looked up, and seeing Billy he waved. "Stay there on the fence, Son," he called, "and don't get in the way of the combine. I don't want you to get hurt."

Around and around the field he went, stopping now and then to empty the golden grains of oats into the wagon standing nearby. Around and around and around—smaller and smaller grew the center where the uncut oats stood waving in the soft breeze.

Something Touches Billy

As Billy sat watching his Daddy, something rubbed against his arm. Glancing down, he saw Puss, the family cat, who had come to watch too.

Billy pulled her into his lap, and she snuggled down as he rubbed her soft shiny coat and listened to her purr.

Clickety-click, clickety - click went the big tractor as Daddy drove close by the fence. Suddenly Puss jumped off Billy's lap and dashed toward the tractor.

She had seen a mouse and was quick to leap after it. Billy called to her, but she was running as fast as she could go.

Then It Happened!

And then it happened!! The mouse turned and leaped blindly into the oncoming combine. Both Billy and his Daddy saw what was happening, but it was too late.

The big wooden blades of the combine coming around carried another swath of oats, and this time swept up oats, cat and mouse.

But Puss was not to be out-moussed even by a big combine. As the wide belt swept Puss and her mouse toward the grain rollers, she gave one last desperate leap to escape. Over the side she went and into the oat bin.

Quickly Daddy stopped the tractor and jumped down. Billy had hopped off the fence, and together they ran back to the oat bin.

Puss Wins

There they saw her, tumbled and struggling. It was Puss buried in oats up to her chin, but in her mouth she bravely held her hard-won prize—the mouse!!

Billy and Daddy both had to laugh. Daddy reached inside and lifted her out. She was badly shaken but not hurt.

"You take Puss up to the house and give her a bowl of warm milk," Billy said. "Daddy as he gently placed her in Billy's arms."

When Puss had finished her milk, Billy placed her in a clean box where she snuggled down for a long nap. That afternoon when Billy went back to sit on the fence and watch Daddy again, Puss stayed behind asleep in her box.

She was probably dreaming of her mouse and would like to have another, but for a few days she would be satisfied with warm milk.

PAJAMA PILLOW by Loella Sloan Young

Are you ready for another needlework project, Girls? Let's make a pajama pillow for your bed.

Cut one piece of material 14" x 15". Fold in half lengthwise.

Cut heart-shaped. Open material and slit down center.

Turn under cut edge ¼", and stitch a zipper underneath, in the same way you made the pillow cover.

Open the heart flat, and press. Using this heart for a pattern, cut another piece of material to match it.

Around the edge of the heart, stitch purchased ruffling on the right side, placing the ruffled edge along the outside of the heart.

Put Together

Now place two heart pieces right sides together, and stitch around the edge. Clip around outside edge, but not deep enough to clip stitching.

Open zipper and turn right side out. Press. Place your pajamas inside, and rezip. Like it?

Just One Tip

Just one little tip girls, when you are sewing, never, never, NEVER make another seam, until the one just finished has been pressed.

It's the secret of real tailoring. On any pattern, it will tell you which way your seam, or dart or tuck, is to be pressed.

Follow it the letter. It will be worth it.

This makes a nice gift too. If you have a sewing question, just write and ask Stella Stick-It about it.

Leaves and flowers may be attractively preserved by pressing them to a hard surface, then applying two or more thin coats of fresh, white shellac.

CRAFT OF TOMORROW—A "Flying Barrel" that reportedly will outperform vertical take-off aircraft and helicopters is described by Aero Digest, a national aviation engineering magazine. This sketch shows the circular-winged craft in flight. Supposedly under construction in France, the copter seats three in gimbals which keep passengers vertical regardless of the position of the craft. Details of operation are secret. The original design was invented by Graf von Zborowski, noted German aerodynamicist who pioneered in developing the first rocket aircraft.

Plants Grown on Fence Increase Garden Yield

Largest tomato crop for a given space is produced by pruned and supported plants.

To grow the largest crop of tomatoes from a given ground area, the plants should be pruned and staked. Each plant will bear less than a plant allowed to spread over the ground, but the area occupied will produce a larger crop.

A picket fence along the north, east and west sides of a vegetable plot will enlarge the garden area perceptibly, making air rights available for growing not only tomatoes, but cucumbers, pole and lima beans, and other vine crops. The pickets allow air to pass freely through the foliage, and avoid mildew and fungus disease.

Market gardeners find that staked tomatoes give an earlier harvest. When pruned to a single stem the plants are set twelve inches apart, when pruned to two stems they are placed 21 inches apart, and tests have shown that the single stem planting gives earlier fruit and heavier total yield.

The tomato plant naturally starts with one central shoot or leader. As soon as the first blossoms have appeared, at each joint made by a leaf with the stem, a branch begins to grow. If these are allowed to develop, the typical sprawling tomato bush will result.

To prune the plant, the side shoots or branches are removed before they are four inches long; if left to grow longer, the vigor of the plant is reduced. If the plant is to be pruned to two stems, the central stem and one side shoot are allowed to grow, all others being removed. The side shoot chosen to survive should not be more than 10 inches from the ground. All side shoots are removed to make a single stem plant. Pruning must be done weekly.

Single stem plants can be supported by a strong cord stretched from a tall support of any kind, to an anchor on the ground near the plant. Then instead of tying the plant to its support as the stem grows it can be twisted around the cord, which is easier than tying.

Tomato roots spread widely just beneath the soil surface, so that cultivation should never be deep enough to disturb them. Some method of watering during the dry spells is necessary to obtain the best yields, and a mulch should be applied to the soil near the plants if possible. Lack of water causes decayed spots in the fruit opposite the stem, called blossom end rot.

In planting cucumbers to climb, sow seeds three to six inches apart, close to the structure upon which they are to clamber. Plant food is applied in a shallow trench two or three inches away from the seed, using one pint to 25 feet of row. The plants should be thinned out to stand a foot apart. Cucumbers need lots of water and use up plant food quickly. To prevent formation of crooked fruit in late summer, an additional application of plant food should be made as the plants begin to bear, using at least one pint to fifty feet of row.

NATIONAL STARCH PRODUCTS EXHIBIT AT MEREDOSIA

An exhibit set up in the Meredosia State Farmers and Traders bank by National Starch Products of New York has attracted considerable interest. A part of the exhibit is shown above as Mrs. Norma Boyd, bookkeeper at the bank, admires a plastic jewelry case made from resins produced by the company.

The exhibit shows some of the many hundred items made with the aid of some of the company's different resins and adhesives. There are coffee, candy, potato chip and other types of cellophane and vinyl bags. These include such nationally-known brands as Tender Leaf tea and French Brand coffee. There are acetate lampshades, milk cartons, phonograph records, foil lined bags, jewelry and powder boxes, Dixie drinking cups and plates, Chux disposable diapers, plastic paints, cottage cheese containers, vinyl floor coverings and the wrappings for Old Gold, Winston, Viceroy and Philip Morris cigarettes.

The company expects to have the new Meredosia plant running by July 15. This process plant will convert oil bases shipped by barge from Texas to Meredosia into finished resins and adhesives, which will move from the plant in bulk: tank cars and large drums.

A number of men from this area have applied for jobs at the new plant and a National Starch personnel official will be in Meredosia this week to interview applicants.

AIR SERVICE

CHATSORTH, Ga. (AP)—Service station operator Walter Bayne says the unidentified pilot of a light plane landed on the highway near his place, taxied up to buy a tankful of gas, a soft drink and a package of chewing gum and then took off.

The first contest was in February in Barry. He had competition there, but for some reason the other contestants didn't appear. However, he drew unusual comments from the judge from Monmouth. This gave him a great deal of courage and enthusiasm. In the sectional contest, held in Lincoln, there were five contestants. Here again his judge was particularly drawn to him because of the way he presented his speech and his answers to questions at the end of the contest.

To prepare for the extempore speech, students read extensively three subjects are drawn at each contest by each contestant. One of the three is chosen and a preparation hour begins. This hour is spent without communication with anyone at separate tables in a large room.

The speech, given preferably without notes, is followed by a question and answer period; the question is chosen at random, as is the person who responds.

Twelve contestants were present for the state meet held at Champaign. Of the twelve, six entered the finals. The more prominent finalists were seniors with the exception of Gordon. The girl who won second was on her school's winning debate team and the competition proved very interesting.

The speech Gordon gave at Rotary Wednesday night is one which he prepared for the final meet. It is entitled "Shall The U. S. Continue To Give Aid To The Western Europe Re-armament?"

At the end of his speech, the boy was questioned by the men and answered with surprising maturity and knowledge.

Sophomore Orator Speaks Before Roodhouse Rotary

ROODHOUSE — Supt. Chas. Barlow, and a member of the Rotary club introduced Gordon White to the group Wednesday night. Gordon, a sophomore student in the high school received superior rating in extempore speaking in the state recently. Young White spoke on "Shall The U. S. Continue To Aid Western European Re-armament," the subject which he chose at the time he was awarded first. He was coached by Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson of the high school speech department.

Visiting Rotarians were Ed Barger, John Marshall and Jim Bunting, Jacksonville and two Junior Rotarians for the month, Gary Craigmile and Gordon Blackburn.

Gordon White is a sophomore in the Roodhouse Community high school. His speech career began in the sixth grade when he had part in a high school play, "Life With Mother." Last year he entered the district speech contest in original oration. This year he had part in the play "Pullman Car Hiawatha," which won a place in the district speech meet and advanced to the sectional meet.

His greatest achievement is his winning first place in the district sectional and state speech meets in extempore speaking.

WINCHESTER SWITCHES TO DIAL PHONES

MAYOR WAMSELEY

MAYOR HOAGLAND

Mayor Horace Wamsley of Winchester and Mayor Ernest L. Hoagland of Jacksonville exchanged pleasantries during the first call made over Winchester's new dial phone system, which was placed in use May 17. The Winchester mayor called Hoagland, signalling the start of the new system which has just been completed in the Scott county seat by the Illinois Telephone Company.

Jacksonville will follow suit next Dec. 10, when dial service is scheduled to be cut in to service an exchange that has been growing at a rapid rate. The automatic equipment is now being installed in the new building on West Beecher avenue.

Winchester's new exchange is listed as Pioneer for purposes of automatic communication. Telephone subscribers in that community are now perfecting the technique of making calls without the services of operators.

Total area of the world is 196,940,400 square miles, of which 55,885,000 square miles are land and 141,055,400 square miles water.

New officers were elected as follows: President, Johnny Walker; vice president, Phyllis Morrow; secretary, Dottie Lou Ranes; treasurer, Naomi Walton; M.Y.P. treasurer, Beverly Plattner.

They're Bigger And Better, Thanks To Research

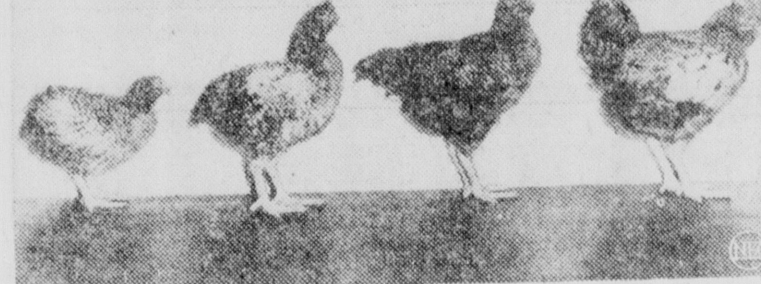

We have come a long way on the farm front since Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson praised our grandfathers, 50 years ago, for an output "so large as to be beyond any rational comprehension." Farm output now is nearly twice what it was in those days. Federal, state and private research have played a big part. The pictures below tell the stories of some of these advances.

Efficiency of pig stock has more than doubled, as shown by this comparison of littermate Poland China barrows. Put into three groups with average starting weights of 51 pounds, those fed 1953 rations gained 2½ times faster than those on 1910 rations, at only half as much for each 100 pounds of gain.

AVERAGE 8 WEEK WEIGHTS, MALES

1930 RATION	1938 RATION	1946 RATION	1954 RATION
1.62 LBS.	1.89 LBS.	2.17 LBS.	2.81 LBS.

Matched Barred Rock-New Hampshire cross broilers were divided into four pens. At end of eight weeks, male birds fed 1953 rations had gained 73 per cent faster or 1.19 pounds more than those fed on 1930 rations. Almost 54 per cent of the improvement came in the last eight years, due to recent research success.

BEEF CATTLE: In 1943, cattle raisers could put two pounds a day on a growing steer. Ten years later, they were getting gains of 2½ pounds a day. Yearling steers shown here illustrate results of tests at U.S. Range Livestock Experiment Station, Miles City, Mont. Steer at left represents average weight of 904 pounds. Other represents average weight of 1064 pounds. Feeding period in both cases is the same.

Today's average dairy cow produces 45 per cent more milk than one 40 years ago. Per cow production, 1910 was 3750 pounds; in 1953, 5447 pounds.

One of the Great Steps of His Life!

When a man takes possession of his first Cadillac, many wonderful things happen to him.

First of all, of course, is the great "lift" he gets from the car itself. When he settles down behind the wheel, turns the ignition key and starts for home—well, it's a great life, and no fooling!

There's a wholly new feeling of security. Weight and size and strength are all about him. There's a new sense of mastery over the car. The response of the engine—the action of the brakes—the easy feel of the wheel... everything gives him a feeling of confidence he never knew in a motor car before.

And, of course, he can't help noting the quick glances of approval he gets from other motorists. Quite a change from yesterday, when he himself was stealing glances at the people in Cadillacs!

And so it goes on that first wonderful ride—with a new thrill every minute—until the car turns into the driveway. And then comes the greatest thrill of all—the wild and enthusiastic approval of that little group whose welfare is his constant inspiration.

Don't worry about dinner tonight—let's go for a ride!

This is only the beginning, of course. Every day and month and year adds to the satisfaction. There's the joy of the first cross-country trip; the pride from that first matching of gasoline and mileage; and the constant proof that the dream he dreamed is in almost everybody's heart.

Yes, when a man steps into his first Cadillac, he takes one of the great steps of his life.

And it's a much, much easier step to take than most people realize. The cost of a Cadillac is remarkably low. And once you own it... well, many contend that it is as economical, over the years, as any car you could buy.

Better come in and see us soon. We'll give you a ride that will thrill you—and some facts and figures that may amaze you. Why not make it today?

Thelma Ritter Rejects Film Offer To Star In Chayefsky TV Play

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (U-P)—Television playwright Paddy Chayefsky has had more than his share of honors but now he has perhaps the most significant tribute of all.

One of the movies' most successful character actresses, Thelma Ritter, turned down a five-figure film offer to star in The Catered Affair written especially for her by Chayefsky.

"I'm a real Chayefsky fan," explained Miss Ritter between rehearsals for the NBC Television Playhouse production scheduled for Monday night.

"I like the script very much, with no reservations. Paddy writes a real New York dialogue. It's different from dialogue anywhere else."

"I don't think anyone can talk New Yorkese authentically except someone who grew up here," added Miss Ritter, herself a native of Brooklyn.

Monday night's show will mark the realization of a long-sought goal by Chayefsky, although not exactly as he had planned it.

Before he achieved fame as a TV writer, Paddy was a contract writer for Universal. When he asked what type scripts he was supposed to write, he was shown the feature film Miracle on 34th Street, in which Miss Ritter had a minor role but came near to stealing the picture. Afterward Paddy was asked, "Well, now do you know what to write."

Paddy, who knew good acting when he saw it, replied: "Yes, a starring vehicle for Thelma Ritter."

That was nine years ago. Chayefsky later came east to do TV scripts and Miss Ritter proceeded to a series of movie successes. Paddy gained increasing recognition for his video plays and his notable Marty, first presented on Television Playhouse, was bought for the movies.

Now, in his first script since the Hollywood production of Marty, Chayefsky finally has written a starring vehicle for Miss Ritter, although it's to be on TV instead of the movie screen. And Miss Ritter, in turning down a film role to star in The Catered Affair, will be making only her second major video appearance. The first was with Jackie Gleason in CBS' Best of Broadway production of The Big Showoff.

But Miss Ritter makes it clear she's not turning her back on Hollywood. As to her future television plans, she says, "I'll know better about 10 p.m. Sunday."

Chayefsky's play for Miss Ritter concerns a family problem over a daughter's wedding. The daughter and father would like it to be an intimate, and economical affair. The mother wants a more ostentatious ceremony—a catered affair.

Late at night, a small safety light at the base-board of the wall (or hall) lets you move about the room without disturbing others. Bulb is only 10 watts—light enough to guide you, dim enough for sleep.

Your bedrooms require special lighting

It's surprising how liveable your bedrooms can be with proper lighting. With a good ceiling light combined with lamps for special uses, your bedrooms adapt themselves to many activities.

At the vanity, for example, you'll find that twin lamps are best... they give equal light to both sides of the face. And white or ivory shades will avoid subtle color distortions.

Tips like this, and those shown at right, will make your bedrooms more liveable... and easier on the eyes!

In The Good Old (BAM!) Summer (CRASH!) Time (BOOM!)

YOU CAN COLLECT if an irate neighbor takes a sledge hammer to your windshield. (The company will try to collect from him.) But if you get mad and bash in your own... umh—umh, brother.

YOU CAN'T COLLECT for personal effects stolen from the car, under ordinary auto insurance. This includes clothing, suitcases or cameras left in the seat or unlocked trunk.

YOU CAN COLLECT when attached equipment is stolen off a car. This includes radiator ornament or spotlight. Spare tires bolted to car also are covered.

YOU CAN'T COLLECT, under comprehensive coverage, for this act. But if a windstorm rips off the canvas top, the claim will be paid. Comprehensive covers all accidental damage other than collision or upset.

Going into the summer touring season, the auto driver should study his insurance policies. There are many fallacies in circulation about accident coverage. Damages, for instance, depend entirely on who was negligent and caused the accident. Sometimes contributing negligence makes the case even more complicated. Advance knowledge of what your auto policies cover can save embarrassment and anguish. Read your policies! Pictured are a few oddities about insurance with which a policy holder should be familiar.

THE STORY OF MARTHA WAYNE

DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY

XXXVI

IN Ray County, Charlie Ford held hurried council with his young brother, Bob, a sometime hanger-on of the James gang. Within the hour, Bob saddled up and rode away—straight for the governor's mansion in Jefferson City. Here the business was short, if far from sweet. Yes, his Excellency did guarantee the $10,000 for the boys. He guaranteed it—no matter his proclamation was not clear on the point—for either Frank or Jesse. And, yes, the guarantee did stand at Dead or Alive.

Within the month Jesse accompanied Charlie Ford to the Ray County farm. Here they were in time to learn that Wood Hite had come in from Kentucky some days earlier. The previous night, Liddell and Bob Ford, fearful that Hite had gone over to the law, had murdered him in the farmhouse living room.

The year turned. Jesse flitted through the mid-Missouri backwoods like a ghost. Finally, he removed his family to St. Joseph, renting the ill-fated "little white house on the hill."

Dick Liddell, who had surrendered to Timberlake on a promise of clemency from Governor Crittenden, signed a 14-page confession. In it he named dates, places and faces for every job the gang had pulled since Northfield.

Liddell's "coming in" had been well guarded by the authorities. Jesse's first hint of it was when he stepped out on the front stoop of the Howard home to pick up his copy of the St. Joseph Gazette the morning of April 3.

At the inquest, Bob Ford related that Jesse walked into the living room from the porch, holding the paper, unfolded.

"He stopped just inside the door," he continues, "opened the paper and looked at it. He just stood there staring over the top of the paper at us and blinking
